Textbook proposal approved

In the lightest vote on school issues in recent years, residents of Venice School District 3 approved Saturday a special referendum proposal that the district abolish the practice of providing free textbooks.

Only 84 persons went to the polls in the district's two voting precincts to ballot on the proposal. This is only 7 percent of the district's 1,200 registered voters in the two precincts.

The proposal was defeated five to one in Precinct Two which comprises all territory of the district outside the city of Venice. That precinct which has its pollingplace at the Eagle Park Improvement Association building, cast five votes in favor of eliminating free textbooks, and 25 votes against it. In Precinct One, however, the vote was 43 in favor of the proposal and eight against. All of Precinct One is located within the city of Venice.

This was a total vote of 47 in favor and 33 against the proposition—a favorable plurality of 14 votes. There were four

Schooley is stabbed five times

Granite City police are searching for a 25-year-old Mitchell man in connection with the stabbing early Saturday of John O. Schooley, 24, of 2620 E. 27th St., who is in stable, but serious, condition at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He has been moved from the intensive care unit to a regular room.

Schooley is the son of William Schooley, attorney for the Granite City School District and Granite City Township.

The 24-year-old Schooley was stabbed five times, and evidence indicates the stabbing occurred in the north parking lot of Charlie's Restaurant, Namecki Road at Madison Avenue, about 2:40 a.m. Saturday.

He was interviewed in the medical center Sunday by detectives.

the world record, but it is unlikely her own brood will be matched for some time. The pups are being taken care of by the mother and the Sparks family. They bottle feed the pups to supplement Setters efforts to feed all of her youngsters.

Will airport plans 'fly'?

By BILL WINTER
Editor

Airports are the easiest thing to get off the ground in the Madison-St. Clair counties area, but hope for them seems to spring eternally.

Cottleville Air Park near Interstate 270 here didn't "fly" for long, and the effort to arrange for lengthening of Lakeside Airport runways near Route 111 to accommodate a large volume of corporate and pleasure aircraft has been unsuccessful.

The dream of an intercontinental airport at Columbia-Waterloo almost jelled during the administrations of Illinois Governor Richard Ogilvie and St. Louis Mayor Al Cervantes, and again seemed on the verge of reality when William T. Coleman Jr. was secretary of the U. S. Department of Transportation in the administration of President Gerald Ford.

But Jimmy Carter defeated Ford for the presidency and new Transportation Secretary Brock Adams used some tricky aerobatics to send the Columbia plan to the same kind of "Waterloo" fate encountered by Napoleon.

Adams himself was "shot down in flames" Friday, being fired—with an immediate effective date—by Pres. Carter. The latter had unsuccessfully urged Adams to get rid of several of his top assistants.

Teachers' strike despite closings?

Three elementary schools have been closed to reduce Granite City schools' financial imbalance and to make more funds available for staff pay hikes, but uncertainty over settlements with employees remains.

The new fiscal year began July 1 and among the groups unsigned is Teachers' Federation Local 743. Neither the local nor school district has had anything to say lately, but there is widespread public belief that a strike may delay the scheduled start of 1979-80 classes next month.

There, of course, also is extensive

The Washington shakeup prompted U. S. Senators Charles Percy and Adlai Stevenson of Illinois to call for renewed consideration of the Illinois airport site, which has ample room—in contrast to hemmed-in Lambert Airport—but

Drowning victim

Boy drowns

Steven Paul Coad, 12-year-old son of Lloyd Coad, 2715 E. 24th St., and Mrs. Elbert (Gail) Legate Jr. of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was drowned last week in the Cedar River.

Steven's body was recovered at 8:30 p.m. Thursday on the north bank of the river at Cedar Rapids.

His father said the boy was with four or five friends riding bicycles across a trestle-type railroad bridge when the accident occurred about 2 p.m. Tuesday, July 17.

The front wheel of Steven's bicycle apparently struck a railroad tie and he was thrown over the handlebars and from the bridge into the water.

The bridge which has no side railings is restricted to railroad traffic.

His mother had warned Steven many

Broker license being challenged

The Illinois Department of Registration and Education, which licenses real estate brokers in the state, has called a hearing for 2:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 10, in Chicago to consider whether the broker license of Walter M. Rozycki of a Granite City should be revoked or suspended.

Lewis R. Fine of the department's real estate division filed the request for a formal hearing on the status of Rozycki's license after Fine investigated allegations Rozycki had advertised a house for sale which was not listed with his company, Rozycki Realty.

It also was alleged that three families simultaneously claimed to own the house, both saying they had purchased it from Rozycki.

According to the formal complaint filed by the Department of Registration and Education, about Feb. 27, 1978, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Gibson had recently moved from GC to Washington, Ill., and asked Rozycki to appraise their property at 1640 Maple St.

Rozycki obtained a key to the house from a neighbor, Mattie Love, 1642 Maple St., and was instructed to return the key to Mrs. Love, it is asserted. He immediately began advertising property for sale by Rozycki Realty, the complaint alleges.

Gibson had not entered into an advertising agreement or indicated that he wanted a buyer, the complaint continues.

About March 3, a sales contract for purchase of the home at $16,500 was signed by Mr. and Mrs. Donald

SEEDING LAKE BED. Increased vegetation in Horseshoe Lake is the aim of a program currently under way in which nearly 150 acres of the southern portion of the lake has been drained and millet seed planted from an airplane. Once the millet, a grain-bearing grass which grows in standing water, has grown, water will be returned to the dry portion of the lake. Conservation officials said the millet will help aeriate the water, will firm up the silt on the bottom and will provide seed above the water for ducks, doves and other wildlife. The project is to be completed by mid-October.

Two students in Civic Ballet

Deborah A. Strain, a Grigsby seventh grade student, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Strain Jr., 3844 Lake St., and Gwynne Johnson, sixth grader at Lakeschool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson, 3803 Lake, have successfully passed auditions as junior members of the St. Louis Civic Ballet Company.

They will appear in the "Nutcracker" ballet at Powell Hall with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at Christmas.

Both dancers are students of the Salem School of Dance, Marge Salem, instructor, and the Ballet Arts Academy in St. Louis, Stanley Herbert, instructor. St. Louis Civic Ballet's senior company will travel to Aberdeen, Scotland, and London, England, next summer.

Only three dance companies in the world are chosen to perform each year in the Youth Festival. This is the second visit for the St. Louis Civic Ballet to the month-long festival.

Madison School Board hires 2 teachers, delays others

The Madison School Board Thursday night hired two new teachers, accepted the retirement resignation of another and postponed action on appointments to fill three other teaching posts.

The board named Charles Jackson, a former school district teacher, as an early childhood teacher for the district. Jackson left the district a year ago to further his education, according to John Palchiff, superintendent of schools.

Also hired was a Tide I teacher, Mrs. Shirley Mainridge. The Tide I program handles instruction of disadvantaged children.

Although the board met to discuss the appointment of a speech therapist, a high school English teacher and a high school biology teacher, all three personnel items were tabled for the time being.

The board was informed by R.W. Harmon & Sons which provides bus transportation for the district.

that the transportation cost will increase 11.2 percent over last year's contract price for the new school term beginning in late August.

Palchiff said the increase will apply to the annual basic cost of $70,000 in the three-year contract. The district's total annual cost for bus transportation under the contract approximates $95,000 for all purposes.

Palchiff told the board that the second annual School Superintendents' Conference will be held in Peoria Sept. 12 and that he plans to attend since the plan will include discussion of such major issues as energy use and conservation.

Plans were discussed for public auctions that are to be held Friday in an effort to sell the district's Dunbar School building and the junior high school building.

A public auction will be held Dunbar School at 9:30 a.m. Friday and at 10:30 a.m. at the junior high school.

News notes

Arthur Ken Barnes, 32, East Alton, remains at large after oversteering a three-day furlough granted by the Madison County sheriff department. Previously convicted of armed robbery, he had said he wanted to see his ill father and arrange care for his newborn child before being sentenced for another robbery.

The Illinois Transportation Department will open construction bids Friday on a hangar at Bi-State Parks Airport, 26 miles of guardrail and crash cushion on Interstate 64, thermoplastic pavement marking in this area and 25 miles of concrete pavement for ramp reconstruction on the I 70-55 intersection with I 64.

Bids will be opened Friday for Interstate 270 projects—two grade separation structures over Jerome Lane in Cahokia, two such structures and two reinforced concrete approach slabs over Stollie Road south of Cahokia, and two grade separation structures with reinforced concrete approach slabs over McBride Avenue near Cahokia.

Cable TV here by this fall

Granite City residents may be the first in this area to receive cable television service with initial hookups planned for late this fall, according to a spokesman for South-Western Cable TV Inc.

Edwardsville, Collinsville and Maryville may have to wait until December for service, under the present schedule, according to the company.

A 250-foot tower is to be constructed in the near future in Maryville and programs will be microwave broadcast to the Granite City area for viewers here and in Pontoon Beach.

Subscribers will receive 22 channels and the system may eventually expand to 35 channels. The cost will be $10 to hookup for those signing up as soon as the system is offered, plus $7 a month. An additional $100 for a movie package will be offered for $8.50 more per month.

John Yates buried today

John Yates, 65, of 1557 (rear) State St., will be buried at 2 p.m. today at Valley View Cemetery, Edwardsville.

Mr. Yates died July 16 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

He had no known living relatives.

FIRE DAMAGES HOUSE

Fire damaged a frame residence at 918 McCambridge Ave., Madison, at 10 p.m. Sunday. Cause of the fire was undetermined. Firemen were at the scene an hour. The house is owned by Erb Woods and was occupied by LeAnn Nichols, fireman reported. An estimate of the damage was unavailable.

TRUCK STOLEN

The white over brown 1978 Chevrolet Blazer truck of Charles Aaron, 2024 Fourteenth St., was stolen from in front of his home between 1:20 and 9:30 a.m. Sunday. The truck has large over-sized tires on chrome wheels.

FRIEND OF EDUCATION

State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene (56th District), left, receives a "Friend of Education" award from State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin at the annual conference of the Illinois Association of Regional Superintendents of Schools and the Illinois Office of Education in Springfield. The education award is presented to legislators who have made outstanding contributions toward enactment of legislation of benefit to school children in Illinois. Also honored was State Rep. John F. Sharp (49th District).

90-day jail term

Steven R. Sexton, 18, of the 2700 block of Warren Ave., has been sentenced by Circuit Judge Horace Calvo to serve 90 days in the Madison County Jail and two years of probation after pleading guilty to two counts of forgery.

Sexton originally was charged with eight counts of forgery, but six counts were dismissed in return for the plea.

He and another man allegedly cashed checks totaling $445 at the American Heritage Bank during February and March on the account of Kenneth LaBryer, 2827 Pershing Blvd., and were filled out without LaBryer's knowledge or permission, police alleged.

Arrest youth in check theft

A 17-year-old Venice youth was charged with theft Friday afternoon after he allegedly tried to cash a check which was taken earlier from a man who said the check was snatched from his hand by a boy who rode by him on a bicycle.

Rick Utage, 1220 Alton Ave., reported to Granite City police at 1:35 p.m. Friday that he was sitting on a truck talking with several other persons at 14th and State Street.

Utage, a CETA manpower employee, told officers the men had just been paid and he had his check in his hand. The check was for $131.

A boy riding an orange bicycle approached the group, police were told, and snatched the check from Utage. The victim said he gave chase but was unable to overtake the boy on the bicycle.

Later Friday, Madison police notified Granite City officers that they had picked up a boy who allegedly attempted to cash a CETA check for $131 at Schermer's Market in Madison.

The youth was turned over to Granite City authorities and charges of theft were filed against Johnnie D. Robinson, 17, of 64 Lee Wright Homes, Venice.

NATIONAL RECOGNITION

Madison County was presented a 1979 achievement award at the 44th annual conference of the National Association of Counties held this year in Kansas City. NACO awards are given each year to counties which have been specially honored for implementation of innovative programs leading to more efficient, modern county government.

Receiving the award of Madison County were Nelson Hagnauer (left), chairman, Madison County Board, and Herbert "Junior" Milton, member of the County Board's Personnel Committee. The award was given to the county for establishing a personnel classification system which identifies uniform qualifications, work responsibilities, and salary levels for all jobs throughout the county government. This award marks the fourth time in four years that Madison County has received one or more awards for innovative programs.

New snag for Venice housing

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has turned down for the second time an application by the city of Venice to build a 138-unit housing complex under the Section 8 program, it was announced Thursday in Washington.

Notice of the latest rejection was received by city officials Friday. Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols said the city will seek more information from the Chicago office of HUD as to why the $4.8 million project was turned down, before deciding if it should be resubmitted.

Under the Section 8 program, tenants in private apartment complexes pay no more than 25 percent of their income for rent, with the balance, if any, paid by HUD.

Construction of the project has been planned at East and Klein streets in Venice. HUD turned down the project a month ago and at that time a delegation of officials, including Echols and Willie Walker, executive director of the Madison County Urban League met with HUD. It was decided to resubmit the program.

A HUD official said Friday the project was rejected the second time "for technical reasons" but it was disclosed that funds had been exhausted before Venice's place on the priority list was reached.

TO CHECK YOUR BLOOD PRESSURE

High blood pressure is the leading cause of heart attack, stroke and kidney failure. It's called the "silent killer" because the only way to know you have it is to check it — regularly. We make it easy for you — because we want to do everything we can to help you ENJOY your remaining years in prosperity and good health.

High blood pressure is NOT a disease of old age — this myth developed because the devastating consequences of the disease — heart attack, stroke, kidney failure — usually occur in older people. That's only because elevated pressure was not detected and controlled when they were younger and "felt great". High blood pressure the "silent killer," rarely gives any symptomatic warnings, but quietly and consistently overtaxes your cardiovascular system; progressively causing damage to many vital organs.

EVEN MILD HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE, UNTREATED, CAN MEAN ACTUAL LOST YEARS OF LIFE... for example a man 35 years old with an average pressure of 150 over 100 may reduce his life expectancy by sixteen and one-half years! Yet high blood pressure can be treated and controlled after consulting with your physician — often with only simple adjustments in lifestyle. PUT MORE LIFE IN YOUR LIFE by checking with our Blood Pressure Teller regularly.

Growing pains evident at Horseshoe Lake Park

HORSESHOE LAKE STATE PARK is beginning to develop from its infancy into a full park, but not without growing pains. A tour of the lake offers a variety of scenes.

ABOVE: The dry bed of the southern portion of the lake is in stark contrast to the beauty and color of the rest of the park. Conservation officials drained the area because there was no vegetation on the bottom. They planted seeds by airplane last week. When the plants grow, the portion will be refilled.

UPPER RIGHT: Rustic scenes are numerous in the park as flowers, tiny pads and other natural sights abound.

RIGHT: Wildlife, including this crane, have found the lake park an ideal habitat. Steps are being taken to improve the food supply for ducks, doves and other birds.

LOWER RIGHT: Bob Becker, who has resided on the lake since the 1830s, launched a successful petition drive to allow boats on the lake and now is seeking petitions to permit trot lines and jug fishing.

BOTTOM: Like a scene from the Wizard of Oz, a field of sunflowers reaches as far as the eye can see. About 35 to 40 acres were planted to provide sunflower seeds for doves and other birds.

Teaching baby to swim..

SWIMMING INFANTS.

Mothers and babies, left, engage in a little group swimming during the Granite City Park District's mother-infant swimming class. Clockwise around the circle, from the bottom, are Mrs. Cindy Rhodebeck and son, Chad, Mrs. Debbie McMillian and son, Justin, Mrs. Heidi Jones and son, Christian, Mrs. Darlene Andrews and daughter, Kimberly, and Mrs. Karen Neal and son, Matthew. Right and below, mothers and sons enjoy each other and the water.

with a little help from a friend

They say that newborns can walk and swim at birth, but "forget" soon after. The mothers taking the Park District's mother-infant swimming course are learning that even the youngest child can learn to feel comfortable in the water.

The babies show little fear since Mom is right there seeing to it that nothing bad happens. They happily splash and move around, occasionally bending to take a drink of the sparkling water.

Mother encourages the tiny ones to flail their small arms and legs in an effort to teach them the basics of swimming. Instructors are standing by, showing the mother how to move the youngster through the water.

Some of the babies take right to the idea of lying prone in the water. With Mom's hands to keep them from danger, it must seem to them that they are in their own bath.

Most of the youngsters will put their faces into the water and seem to hold their breath naturally. Mom can let them go for a second and baby will slide under the water and be laughing when brought back up. A few can get back up on their own.

How well the baby does in swimming depends on Mom. If she shows fear, the infant will be afraid. But if the mother can instill confidence and lack of fear, the baby may actually learn to swim. The course at the park is designed more to get the babies prepared for learning to swim than to actually get them swimming on their own. The first thing that must be conquered if one is to learn to swim is the fear of water.

If infants begin early enough, they can become very good swimmers at a tender age. Children seem to learn fear of water sometime after they are a year old. The youngest infants have no fear.

Respect for, and safety in, the water must be taught later. As the child's swimming skills become more advanced, so does his understanding of the dangers. At that point, he or she can be taught water safety.

At the infant stage, a lot can be accomplished in the area of simple skills and confidence building. Having Mom there makes everything okay with the children, most of the time. If the mother helps and encourages the child in the ways instructed, the youngster will be ready to learn the more advanced skills when he is a little older.

The Granite City Park District has a wide range of learn to swim programs for people of all ages. Information on these programs is available at the pool office, 876-7466.

Summertime workshops for speech and debate students

Nine advanced speech students in the Speech Department at North High attended a two-week workshop at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston June 17-30.

They attended workshop sessions in mass media, oral interpretation, and theater. Classes were held for 6½ hours each day, except Sunday. On Sunday, all students and their instructors enjoyed an all-day picnic, a tradition at the workshop.

When students were not attending classes, they were rehearsing or researching material in the university library.

In the morning, students had a one-hour preparation study time.

In the afternoon, there was a recreation time which included swimming, tennis, sunbathing, or game activities.

During the afternoon on the last workshop day, students in each of the three workshop sessions gave final performances for parents and friends.

In oral interpretation, students gave individual readings and group interpretation performances.

For theater, students performed 5- to 7-minute scenes from published plays. Each scene included 4 to 5 students.

In mass media, the final performances consisted of two activities. Students presented newscast radio programs and also television-taped a newscast.

Students worked both as talent and as technicians in both radio and television.

Students in the theater workshop session were George Compton, Kim Woodward and Anne Fuller.

Those in the oral interpretation workshop session were Lynda Loftus and Melissa Travis.

Students in the mass media workshop session were Bob Slate, Tracie Millard, Mark Mills and Chris Davis.

Each of these nine advanced speech students received a full scholarship, for tuition and board, as follows:

Kim Woodward — Rotary Club of Granite City.
Tracie Millard — Optimist Club of Granite City.
Mark Mills — Paul Bowler, Bowler Contract Co.
Chris Davis — Speech Department at North.
Bob Slate, George Compton, Anne Fuller, Lynda Loftus and Melissa Travis — Speech Department student "slave" sale and student candy sales.

Comments from students who attended the Eastern two-week speech summer workshop are:

Mark Mills — "In mass media, it was hard work, but it was a lot of fun writing commercials. And we got a chance to write news stories, too."

George Compton — "I liked the theater sessions because we got to choose the scenes that we wanted to do. The instructors helped and inspired us."

Melissa Travis — "It seemed amazing to me that all the class members could become so close in two weeks. We all cried when we left. It didn't seem like such hard work because we were so close."

Tracie Millard — "TV was most interesting. I liked working with equipment in the sound room. I also liked being able to work in both television and radio."

Lynda Loftus — "I got a lot of all-around improvement in everything I performed. In fact, we all did."

Bob Slate — "I learned a lot of writing my term paper about the broadcasting rights for the 1980 Olympics in Moscow. And I enjoyed meeting all the people."

Chris Davis — "The TV and radio sessions were fun, but the research and writing taught me the most."

Anne Fuller — "I was challenged. We had to memorize a lot of work in a short time. And what we performed had to be polished and good."

Kim Woodward — "The people in the classes were super nice."

Two debate students in the GCHS North Speech department will attend a two-week debate workshop at Illinois State University in Normal from July 22 to August 3.

They will research and practice debate on the national high school debate topic for 1979-80: "Resolved, that the United States should significantly change its foreign trade policies."

Both debate students, Jeannie Trimmer and Mark Kastelic, received Masque and Gavel Society scholarships for full tuition and board, given annually to the department by Charles Hester of Charlie's Restaurant in Granite City.

Mark Kastelic comments,

"I am looking forward to a challenge for two weeks in order to extend all my potential in the field of debate."

Jeannie Trimmer says, "Since this is going to be my first year debating in interscholastic competition, I hope to learn much, and I am sure the professors at Illinois State will be helpful."

Dr. Goni Mihaloff, speech department chairperson, said today, "Advanced speech and debate students at North are encouraged to attend these two-week summer workshops at universities in North opened in 1973."

"The first summer, there were only two scholarships available for interested students. This summer, there were more scholarships available than in previous years."

"Students benefit in several ways. They gain confidence and mature as thoughtful people. They experience speech performance growth. They meet and exchange ideas with approximately 150 students throughout the state."

"They come back to the Speech Department at North and inspire other students. And they are proficient in their own work."

"We are grateful to community persons and civic organizations that give us student scholarships. And we appreciate the cooperation and encouragement from the parents of advanced speech and debate students. This scholarship program is well received by the students, also. It is an on-going program in the department."

Dick Allen, 54, a Granite City attorney, today announced his candidacy for Madison County's 1980 Democratic nomination at the county convention.

A former assistant state's attorney, county judge, a former city attorney and assistant public defender of Madison County since 1974, Allen said he has become increasingly aware over the past four years that Madison County has a deeply troubled criminal justice system.

"It has become apparent that the state's attorney's office is failing badly and is not performing as it should be could," Allen said.

The Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, a body created and produced by the highly respected management firm of Cresp, McCormick & Associates, Inc., has found such to be true in its report to John Ellis, executive director of the commission.

"After having discussed this problem with numerous law enforcement personnel, lawyers, labor leaders and judges, we have reached a common agreement that the urgent need to upgrade Madison County's criminal justice system is one of the most important task facing the citizens of Madison County."

The commission report stated that during the past eight years, crime grew more rapidly in Madison County than in any of the seven counties in the region studied.

"For example, the number of violent crimes reported between 1972 and 1978 exceeded the number reported in St. Clair County."

"St. Clair and Madison County were clearly inflected with the greatest crime threat; the growth of this threat was particularly noticeable in Madison County.

"By 1976, some improvement had been noted, attributable almost entirely to the excellent leadership," the report said.

"According to the report, Section 9-40, prosecution is the most serious problem in the criminal justice system in Madison County. It has flaws such as failure of uniformity in the application of workload, high turnover of assistant state's attorneys, failure to maintain liaison with police, delays, strained communications with police, and reluctance to accept outside assistance in the prosecution of cases. It is likely to be highly beneficial to reject a proposed grant to establish a mechanism for the prosecution of cases. The county police is the most serious problem, the low probability that the most offenders will be punished, the report said.

"[State's Attorney Nick Byrd] has recently become weary of the responsibility over the past eight years. He has personally tried no cases in the last two years.

"The office requires more direction, aggressive philosophy, competent personnel, and better professional relations with police forces than is able to provide," Allen asserted.

"To correct the situation, the report recommended:

- (1) "The adoption of an aggressive prosecutorial philosophy.
- (2) "The development of a working relationship with the county's police forces.
- (3) "The establishment of a grant program whereby use is regular basis to provide input on sentencing recommendations, recidivism, defendant attitudes, work release programs, etc., recognizing that prison may not always be the answer but that the state's problem may still exist.

(7) "The establishment of a consumer division treating all consumer complaints as welfare fraud — which has been sadly neglected — consumer rip-offs and consumer fraud."

(8) "Finally, and probably most importantly, to bend every effort to solicit, obtain and retain the services of skilled, seasoned criminal trial staff ever assembled in Madison County so that the state's attorneys will have their trial experience but also their advice at his fingertips."

He said it personally and professionally repugnant that Mr. Byron has allowed the state attorney's office to drift into a disorganized and unmanageable confusion.

He cited the tenure of Dick Mudge, under whom I served and learned the workings of the office, the state attorney's office held its proper place in the legal and government community.

"We have seen what was once the center of law enforcement in the county fail to provide the leadership necessary to protect the public and the state's prosecution been in welfare fraud or political corruption?"

"What protection has been offered the people against the ravages of environmental waste? Why do we have a water quality assessment fiasco, only to find the state's attorney retreating from the cause of Officers said the suspect they are seeking was in custody by Madison County Sheriff's deputies in connection with a fight Saturday night at the Inn at the Square, 1000 N. Second St. Mitchell, but deputies had released him pending additional investigation, even though they had been alerted that Granite City detectives wanted to interview him.

Evidence at the scene of the Schooley fight was collected another person may have been cut. Detectives have been at hospitals to determine if anyone had been treated for knife wounds and the victim was taken to the University of Elizabeth Medical Center about 1 p.m. Saturday.

They also began searching for that man questioning and found he was in the custody of sheriff's deputies in connection with the disturbance at the Inn.

Officers said they do not believe the two stabblings were related, except that they may have involved the same suspect.

Police said Schooley was stabbed five times and all were severe wounds.

He was stabbed once in the upper left chest, again in the middle chest, twice in the right side of the abdomen and once in the lower left back.

Authorities said their call to Charlie's Restaurant, 1000 N. 10th St., and when officers arrived they found Schooley just inside the door on the north side of the restaurant, being attended by several nurses and a duty emergency medical technician.

No knife was found, although officers searched the parking lot and called a fire truck to the restaurant and nearby buildings which they searched in the event an assailant had thrown a weapon.

Schooley had been at the restaurant earlier, going there about 11 p.m., according to information obtained by police. Schooley was with a friend, and Schooley and a girl friend had been with a group of friends and that there had been a party at the restaurant, an occasion which might lead to an attack on Schooley. Police later questioned those who were among the group.

Police also questioned the mother of the girl friend and awakened her.

Informing of the attack on Schooley, the nurse told them Schooley had brought her home after leaving Charlie's about 2 a.m. and that she could shed no light on the victim's whereabouts after he was attacked.

Schooley was taken by Thomas and Elizabeth to the Eliza Follen Medical Center where he was placed in the intensive care unit.

Police went there to interview him, but Schooley told them his condition was critical at that time.

No witnesses to the assault could be located. The police found a trail of blood from the north door to the restaurant to a car in about the center of the parking lot. Blood was smeared on the fender of the car, officers reported.

When the police arrived at the Restaurant, one man told them that he had been standing inside the north door when he heard a knocking.

He said the person he heard knock and Schooley stumbled in, bleeding.

business sector or the private business sector who employ students enrolled in the Off-Campus Cooperative Education program. The Granite City School District may get some tax relief through provisions of the Revenue Code.

Although seven areas are listed under the provision for tax credit eligibility, the Revenue Code states that participating in vocational cooperative education programs," is the segment of the economy and individual businesses employing tax credit for employing students.

People enrolled in Granite City School District's Off-Campus Cooperative Education program do not have to be classified as disabled in order for an employer to receive a tax credit for hiring them, Don Shaffner, Granite City School District, explained.

Shaffner said those hiring students in the Off-Campus Cooperative Education program may claim a tax credit of 50 percent of the wages paid to the student in the year of employment.

He said an employer paying a student $400 in wages is eligible to claim $200 in tax credit.

A maximum of $3,000 is permitted for one first year student, or 50 percent of $6,000 (maximum allowable income).

If the student is employed by the same employer for a second year, a tax credit of 5 percent of the wages paid may be claimed, not to exceed $1,500 (25 percent of $6,000).

The amount of tax credit is based on a formula involving the amount of taxes paid through the Federal unemployment Tax Act. IRS Form 6199 must be completed by an employer to claim the tax credit.

Shaffner offered his services to explain more fully the details and benefits to employers already registered with District Nine hire Cooperative education students in the 1979-80 school year, starting

He also will meet with prospective employers interested in securing the student employees under the program.

Shaffner may be contacted each Tuesday through August at Granite City High School South, or by calling 7-1512.

Not eligible for this specific-tax credit program are non-profit corporations, public taxing bodies or similar organizations and agencies.

In the 1978-79 school year, about 300 students, mostly seniors, were employed in the Off-Campus program. Common to all schools are two or two students, while others had four or five in their employ.

Among those hiring, teaching and supervising Cooperative Education students are such representative employers as:

J. M. Bowler Trucking; Air Products and Chemicals; American Heritage Bank; Attorney John B. Carr; B & B Contracting; AAA Maintenance Service; AAA Maintenance

Indictment in severe beating

Randy Decker, 23, Edwardsville, a full-time SIUE student at the time of the beating of a 23-year-old woman music student there, was indicted Friday by grand jurors for aggravated battery and surrendered to authorities a short time later.

Practicing for a piano recital Feb. 27 in the basement auditorium of Lovejoy Library, the woman was beaten severely, suffering internal injuries, a cracked rib, multiple bruises and facial injuries. She withdrew from school and returned to her home in New

In an unrelated occurrence, Decker, a part-time Mississippi River Festival guard, is charged with reckless conduct, a misdemeanor, for allegedly hitting a food service employee on the head with a flashlight. The employee was said to have been mistaken for a man involved in a fight at a concert of the Charlie Daniels Band July 8.

In the aggravated battery case, Decker posted $2,500 cash bond at the Madison County Jail and was released Saturday.

He is said to have given investigators a shirt that the woman then identified as worn by her assailant.

Two drivers were injured at midnight Friday when cars they were driving collided at 18th Street and Madison Avenue.

John Dial, 46, of 717 Ashland Ave., was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was treated for a hematoma to the forehead. He was released after treatment.

Larry J. Bettis, 28, of 738 E. Chain of Rocks Road, suffered minor injuries. Police said that Dial was northbound on Madison Avenue and was struck from the rear by the Bettis car.

A. O. Smith Corporation had improved sales and earnings from operations in the second quarter, it was announced last week by L. B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer. Profit as a percent of sales in the second quarter was also improved over a year ago.

Sales in the April-June quarter amounted to $240,946,000 compared with $225,877,000 in the same period last year.

Earnings before extraordinary items were $12,574,000, or $2.55 per share, compared with earnings in the second quarter of 1978 of $9,954,000.

Smith said that, as previously announced, second quarter net earnings were reduced by an extraordinary charge of $1.22 per share as a result of payment of claims which arose principally out of civil trust charges made against manufacturers of water heating equipment. For the first six months of 1979, A. G. Smith had sales of $68,113,000, with earnings before extraordinary items of $20,853,000, or $4.23 per share, compared with sales of $416,106,000 and earnings of $15,882,000, or $3.24 per share, in the same period Profit before the extraordinary charge as a percentage of sales in the second quarter was 5.2 percent compared with 4.4 percent a year ago, while in the first half of 1979 that margin was 4.5 percent compared with 3.8 percent in 1978.

Smith said part of the improvement in margins came because of higher earnings of affiliate companies, with A. O. Smith's continuity in those earnings more than three times better than in the second quarter last year.

Smith pointed out that while the first half of the year brought record results, the third quarter is historically the least profitable period of the year for the company.

The third quarter of 1979, however, proved to be more difficult for a number of reasons, including a slowdown in new car sales and a growing signs of a recession in the truck industry," Smith said.

He also pointed out that a significant portion of the industry could have a serious effect on A. O. Smith, since its Automotive Division is the largest supplier of the manufacturer of automobile and truck frames.

During the third quarter of this year, the Automotive Division had lower sales and profits than a year ago as well as a reduction in production schedules for chassis frames for large cars and light trucks manufacturing.

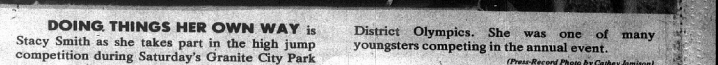

General Motors Corp. said Friday it will extend its annual summer closing and will start production of its new product on two more of its assembly plants, in St. Louis and Detroit, and Pontiac, Mich., on July 1.

CHECKERS — Jeff Besserman (Nam), Johnno Kabbendjian (CC) and Neal Cave (Wil).

Jacks, 4-square, checkers, horseshoes, hopscotch and hula hoop were the six events comprising this year's Granite City Park District Recreation Program's city tournaments. Each of six playgrounds was represented in the competition held at the Nameoki Recreation Center Thursday afternoon.

FAR LEFT ... Todd Hinterser, representing Nameoki School, watches his horseshoe fly to its destination, hoping for a ringer. He won first place in the event.

CENTER ... Hopscotch is the only thing on the mind of Maria Bernaix as she makes a spirited jump. She eventually finished first for Nameoki School.

RIGHT ... A "hoop-off" was needed in the hula hoop competition to decide the winner as a tie occurred between Lori Mills (Niedringhaus School), shown using three hoops, and Michelle Stockton (Wilson School). Lori was named hula hoop champ for 1979.

hope for an agreement, the usual result of the negotiations. But in-depth talks haven't begun yet, and time can pass quickly when complicated deliberations are involved.

Adding to public concern about time perhaps running out is the lack of a replacement tax for the outlaid corporate personal property tax. Legislators voted to boost the corporate income tax from 4 to 6.85 percent but Gov. James Thompson may veto it or try to set it at 6.5 percent.

A slight ray of hope developed Thursday when aides received the legislation from the General Assembly and indicated Thompson probably will amend it and call a special session. The session was originally thought to be likely in late August or early September, but it now may be called for as early as the first or second week of August.

At the special session, the legislators may accept the amendment or try to override it. They also are due to act on the governor's veto of a phase-out of the sales tax on food and drugs.

Pressure is being applied by House Speaker William Redmond, who says, "The governor is playing Russian roulette with the school children of Illinois. He knows that school districts are preparing their budgets for next year, depending on their share of the revenue that the tax replacement will generate."

Textbook

spoiled ballots in Precinct Two, but none in the other precinct.

A referendum vote on the textbook question was necessary because the practice was initiated after a referendum vote in 1938 established the program.

Robert Vickers, Venice School Superintendent, expressed surprise that the proposition carried, but expressed regret at the low voter turnout on such an issue.

A fee schedule for textbooks has been recommended by the Venice School Board which sets amounts not to exceed $8 per year for special education and kindergarten pupils, $12 annually for grades one through eight and $16 per year for high school students.

The proposal to eliminate free textbooks was developed as one step in cutting back school district expenses at a time when financial problems confront the district with a potential deficit of $600,000 at the end of the current 1979-80 school year.

Vickers said elimination of free textbooks will save the district about $8,000, or approximately one-half of the total cost the district pays for textbooks during the year. He noted that some of the book fees could be paid by Public Aid or welfare programs in cases where parents are eligible.

Briggs to begin new term Aug. 6

Harold E. Briggs of Nameoki Township will be official sworn into office as regional superintendent of schools in November 1979 for a four-year term, August 1979 to August 1983.

Briggs was re-elected to the office of regional superintendent of schools in November 1978 for a four-year term, August 1979 to August 1983. Officiating will be Moses Harrison II, chief judge of the Third Judicial Circuit, who will be assisted by Evelyn Bowles, county clerk.

After the swearing-in ceremonies, an open house will be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. "Friends are invited to attend," Briggs said.

Betz, 2 others are promoted

Assuming new positions within the Automotive Division of A. O. Smith Corp. are Elmer T. Betz, Leslie R. Becker and Frank D. Eischen. Betz is now manager of long range planning. Becker replaces Betz as general manufacturing superintendent-parts and Eischen moves to general sales manager-automotive products.

Betz joined A. O. Smith in 1959 as a time study engineer. Transferred to the company's automotive plant in Granite City as a supervisor in 1964, he returned to Milwaukee in 1969 to hold managerial positions in production control, industrial engineering, planning and estimating.

He moved to general manufacturing superintendent-parts in 1973. Betz is a graduate of Marquette University and has done graduate work at Northwestern.

Becker, who holds a mechanical engineering degree from Marquette, joined A. O. Smith in 1956 as a management trainee. He became a foreman in 1957, rose to general supervisor in 1966 and superintendent in parts manufacturing in 1971. Eischen, who now directs the sale of all Automotive Division products, joined the company in 1970 as account executive assigned to the International Harvester account.

In 1971, he assumed responsibility for sales to Chevrolet, Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and GM of Canada. Eischen holds degrees from Loras College, Dubuque, Iowa, and the University of Notre Dame.

Drowning

times not to go across the bridge, Mr. Coad said.

Helicopters were used to search for the boy during the daylight hours, but were unsuccessful.

A fireman found Steven on the bank of the river not too far downstream from the bridge, his father said.

A woman, whose name was not obtained by authorities, saw the boy plunge from the bridge and jumped into the water in an attempt to rescue him, but she was unable to get him out, Mr. Coad said.

At the scene of the accident, the Cedar River is about two-thirds as wide as the Mississippi with treacherous currents.

Steven was born in Granite City and had lived here until moving to Cedar Rapids nearly six years ago. He had attended Marshall Grade School.

The boy left Granite City only two weeks ago after visiting his father, sisters, grandparents and other relatives for the second time this summer.

Steven was of the Catholic faith. He would have observed his 13th birthday Aug. 8.

About eight hours after the accident in which Steven lost his life, the boy's maternal great-grandfather, Jesse H. Buford, 77, of 2168 Lee Ave., died at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Mr. Buford was buried Friday morning.

Betz's parents, Steven is survived by his stepfather, Elbert Legate Jr. of Cedar Rapids; his stepmother, Mrs. Linda Coad of Granite City; three sisters, Mrs. Debra Simpson of Granite City and Donna and Barbara Coad, both of Cedar Rapids; five half-sisters, Linda and Patricia Legate, both of Cedar Rapids, Susan Coad of Granite City and Pamela and Kim Coad, both of Belleville; two half-brothers, Michael and David Coad, both of Belleville; two stepbrothers, John Legate of St. Louis and Michael Legate of Cedar Rapids; two stepaunts, Debra Legate of San Francisco, Calif., and Sandra Legate of St. Louis.

His maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul (Marie) Buford of Granite City; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William (Lila) Morford of Granite City; his maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Lora Buford of Granite City; and his step-grandmother, Mrs. Pauline Gibson of Glen, Ala. Mo.

Funeral services were held today at St. Joseph Catholic Church. Details are given in the obituary column.

Broker

Coggins, with Rozyski acting as the broker and he was given $500 earnest money pending Gibson's decision whether to accept or reject the sales offer, the complaint alleges.

Three days later, on March 6, Rozyski prepared a sales contract for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Metcalf for purchase of the same property for their granddaughter at a cost of $15,500 and was given $2,000 earnest money which was placed in an escrow account, it is alleged.

Metcalf's offer was not transmitted to Gibson for eight days, according to the complaint, and Gibson received the notification on March 16. That day, Gibson learned from Mrs. Love that Rozyski had never returned the key and that people were walking through the house at times without sales personnel accompanying them, it is alleged.

The complaint also alleges that Gibson immediately contacted Rozyski and instructed him to return the key to Mrs. Love. It had not been returned by the following evening, it is contended. Gibson came to Granite City March 18 to locate Rozyski but was unable to do so, the document contends, and he broke down the door of his former home and discovered "a large number of items missing," according to the complaint.

The following day, Mrs. Metcalf's granddaughter arrived at the house, said she had purchased the home and was told she could be in possession of it in a short period of time, according to the complaint.

Later that day, March 19, 1978, Mrs. Coggins arrived at the house and said she had been promised possession of the house in a short period of time, it continues.

Fines contends the activities mentioned in the complaint, if proven at the hearing, constitute grounds for suspension or revocation of Rozyski's license under the advertising section of the real estate brokers and salesmen's license act, which requires consent of the owner of real estate before advertising it for sale.

Efforts to contact Rozyski for his account of the occurrences have been unsuccessful.

Airport

which is regarded by some St. Louis powers—that be as an economic threat to them.

During Adams' reign, the formerly politics-ridden, self-complacent Lambert blossomed forth with major improvements of passenger boarding areas, while still failing to solve its permanent inability to create a second major runway far enough away from the existing big runway. The lack of a sufficiently wide airport is said to create safety, traffic volume and other problems, especially in bad weather.

The original executive director of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority applauded the improvements as overdue and said they didn't change the need for an Illinois airport, which was estimated to take eight or ten years to build. He then accepted a two-year task of developing airports in oil-rich Saudi Arabia, and his successor has been pushing the idea of a major cargo airport at Columbia-Waterloo.

Also competing to become the new hub of the Flying Tiger airline are Decatur, Quincy and Lawrenceville, all in Illinois, plus Topeka, Kan., and Lincoln, Neb.

Who the new transportation secretary will be is unknown, but he seems sure to undergo heavy questioning at his confirmation hearings from both "Lambert forever" and "Columbia someday" advocates in Congress.

Those being mentioned include Carter aide Jack Watson, Federal Railroad Administrator John Sullivan and Federal Aviation Administration Director Langhorne M. Bond.

Bond is a former state transportation director, which could be a "plus," but the "minus" in terms of confirmation support from Missourians is that Illinois is the state where he held the top transportation post (under both Democratic Governor Dan Walker and Republican Governor James Thompson).

Former Navy Secretary Graham

Clayton, who will move up to assistant defense secretary, will serve as acting U. S. Transportation secretary for 30 days or less.

At one time, it was visualized that Columbia could handle airline traffic, with Lambert remaining busy as a general aviation airport.

The present Illinois-based airport authority appears to favor passenger airlines for Lambert if Missourians would drop their opposition to Columbia as a cargo and general airport. Some tend to see that as a viable compromise, but U. S. Senator Thomas Eagleton of Missouri remains opposed to any airport at all in the Columbia vicinity.

Eagleton's airport-related political footwork in Washington has been more nimble than that of all the Illinois legislators combined. The only thing he and former Sen. Adams haven't been able to kill, it is being said, are the formal FAA approval of the proposed new airport site, and the hope that continues to spring forth.

BAC hiring; okay first tax borrowing

The Belleville Area College Board of Trustees has made the following appointment at its July board meeting last week:

Ann Hare, director of the Indochina Refugee Education Project.

Garner Kimbrell, welding instructor (Kimbrell will work at the Belleville campus—he was previously an instructor at the Menard Correctional Center).

Thomas J. Cress, electronics instructor at Menard Correctional Center.

Charles V. Gulash, welding instructor at Menard.

Tony D. Wilcox, small appliance repair instructor at Menard.

Lana S. Nagel, bookkeeping clerk.

Helen Lain, registration technician; and Dorothy Anderson, Alma Ramey and Karen Robinson, secretaries.

It was noted that "things are moving smoothly" for the third phase of BAC's building project.

Final construction on the college's main campus, located at Illinois 161 and Green Mount Road, east of Belleville, has been slowed recently, however, by a federal requirement that a specific percentage of contractors be minority owned firms.

The original concrete contractor, a minority firm, had to withdraw from the project and — because the project is funded primarily with federal funds — work has been "delayed" until another minority contractor can be retained.

According to a report made at the trustee's meeting, work should be underway again and the momentum should be regained with a week.

At this tie, a total of $1,481,000 has been paid to contractors for the building. That figure includes $245,544 for the month of June 1979.

Authorization for issuance of tax anticipation warrants was given by the BAC.

Board Member Edward O'Malley pointed out that BAC has never issued tax anticipation warrants in the history of District 522.

President William R. Keel responded that, except in an emergency, they will not be issued.

Slow payments of state money to the college, coupled with slow tax receipts from St. Clair County, have created a potential cash flow problem for the college, he said.

He asked the board to authorize the warrants to cover the possibility that a cash crisis could occur. The cash crisis could occur. The board authorized a maximum interest rate of seven percent.

Mrs. Mary Lurton, 75, dies

Mrs. Mary O. Lurton (Shelton) 75, of 1938 Adams St., died at 12 noon Thursday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center where she had been a patient for one week. She had been ill for the past month.

Mrs. Lurton was born in Iberia, Mo., and had lived in Granite City since 1925. She was a member of the Church of Christ and a member of the Christian Women's Academy at the church.

She is survived by her husband, Joseph Lurton, one son, Edward Lurton of Granite City, two daughters, Mrs. Bonnie Luckert, Creve Coeur, Mo., and Mrs. Mary Lou Skinner of Granite City.

Also four brothers, Ray, Myrl and Truman Shelton, all of Granite City and Olen Shelton of Minneapolis, Minn., two sisters, Mrs. Edith Wilson of Iberia and Mrs. Lorene Livingston of Highland, Ill. She also leaves four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services were held Saturday. Details are given in the obituary column.

Concessions sought for Homestead Day

More entries for concessions, particularly those such as ring toss, bean bag throw, penny pitch and basketball free throw are being sought for the Homestead Day now being planned, David V. Fox of the Homestead Day Organization Committee, said Thursday.

Applications for arts and crafts exhibits are coming in at a satisfactory pace, Fox said.

Youth day at state fair

Special activities for disabled citizens and youths under 18 are being offered at the Illinois State Fair on Youth and Access Illinois Day Monday, Aug. 13.

Activities include miniature golf, cake walk, sponge toss, a straw search and a talent show. Entry forms are available by writing the special events office at the Illinois State Fair, Box 376, Springfield, Ill. 62705, or by calling 1-217-782-0777. Area special education offices have not been provided with the entry forms.

TOOLS STOLEN

About $300 worth of hand tools were stolen from the truck of Frank Fedora, 4 Briarcliff Drive, parked in his driveway last week. It could not be determined how entry to the truck was gained.

Homestead Day is being planned as a community-wide fun event to focus areawide attention on Granite City, Madison, Venice, Pontoon Beach and Mitchell, and to develop and reinforce community pride and spirit of cooperation.

The event will be held in downtown Granite City, Saturday, Sept. 15. General sponsorship is by the Granite City Jaycees, with organizational assistance from the Women's Division and Downtown Granite City Promotion Committee of the Tri-City Area Chamber of Commerce, and the Madison Businessmen's Association.

The central theme and major attraction of Homestead Day is an arts and crafts fair at Giv Park and along Niedringhaus Avenue facing the park. Artists have been sent to artists and handicrafts throughout Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas and Iowa.

Already more than 50 have replied and have been accepted with additional applications being received daily. A wide variety of art and crafts will be represented and offered for sale, each item being the original work of the exhibitor.

A day-long schedule of free entertainment is planned ending with a country western street dance. A stage will be erected on 19th Street to present the entertainment which will feature song and dance groups, a fashion show, a polka band and an old-time fiddle and bluegrass music concert.

Nineteenth Street will also be the location for a variety of concessions including food and beverage, games of skill, and booths offering miscellaneous items for sale such as craft kits, tulip bulbs, jewelry, plants and planters, and others.

The majority of the concessions will be operated by and for the benefit of local organizations. Several of the concession franchises have been spoken for and accepted, but there are plenty of spaces remaining, particularly for game concessions.

All income-producing concessions are charged a small fee which will be used to offset general expenses. All other concession income will be retained by the operating organizations for their individual purposes.

A special invitation is being extended to public service organizations and private local industry who may wish to establish informational booths. No fee is charged in such instances, and the day will provide an opportunity to enhance public awareness of a particular service, product or industry.

Individuals and organizations interested in participating in Homestead Day and who wish more information may call the Tri-City Area Chamber of Commerce office, 876-6400.

New device at GC bank tests blood pressure

A new machine has been installed in the lobby of Granite City Bank which allows the average person to test his blood pressure. It provides an accurate measure of blood pressure, sufficient to alert an individual who has not had a recent medical examination to a potential problem, bank officials said.

High blood pressure, which can lead to a heart attack, stroke, or kidney failure, is known as the "silent killer." In most cases there are no symptoms that accompany it, and therefore no way to detect a blood pressure problem without a test, it was noted.

E. A. Karandjeff, board chairman at Granite City Bank said he feels that this new machine will benefit the young as well as the old. He noted, "Because of the absence of symptoms, and the belief that high blood pressure is an old age affliction, many young people are affected without knowing it and have shorter life expectancies as a result."

"Our intentions in supplying the measuring device is not to eliminate the need for physical examinations performed by a doctor. Rather, it is hoped that the 'Blood Pressure Teller,' as we are calling it, will underscore the need for periodic medical attention."

The "Blood Pressure Teller" will be available to serve the public during regular banking hours. There is no charge for the self-administered test, and the results are determined immediately. Also provided is a chart of normal pressure ranges for different age groups, so that an individual may see whether his blood pressure is normal or high.

BLOOD PRESSURE testing machine has been installed at the Granite City Bank where the public may make self-administered pressure tests. The machine will be available for use during regular banking hours.

10-week real estate course

The Real Estate Education Company 30-hour Basic Real Estate Transaction course will begin Wednesday, Aug. 1, at the Howard Johnson's Motor Inn, Route 157 and I-55, Collinsville. Potential licensing applicants must successfully complete this course prior to taking the ACT-style Illinois real estate salesperson's licensing exam.

Attorney Joseph Kelleher will conduct the course. Classes will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. on Wednesdays for 10 weeks. A home study program is also offered for persons unable to attend classroom sessions.

Visit to British hospice

A two-week working trip to a leading British hospice unit is being sponsored by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Sept. 22 through October 3.

Hospice units specialize in the control of severe pain and other distressing symptoms that sometimes accompany dying. Their goal is to maximize the quality of life that remains and to respond to all the needs of dying persons and their families.

Trip participants will be given the opportunity to work at one of the leading British hospice units, St. Luke's Nursing Home, located in Sheffield, England, 200 miles north of London.

The trip will be led by Charles A. Corr, professor of philosophy at SIUE. During the summer of 1978, Corr and his wife, a registered nurse, worked as volunteers for 10 weeks at St. Luke's and visited several other British hospice units.

Since that time, the Corrs have conducted workshops and other presentations on hospice units, chronic pain and improved care for dying persons and their families. Prof. Corr said the purpose of the trip is to give participants the opportunity "to see the actual practice of workshop methods." He described those persons who would benefit from this experience as "caregivers."

Estimated cost of the trip is $725, which includes round-trip air fare from St. Louis to London, round-trip rail fare from London to Sheffield, and accommodations on a bed and breakfast basis for 13 nights within walking distance of St. Luke's.

An opportunity for free time and sightseeing will be available on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 29 and 30.

The group will be limited to eight participants, Juanita Gosh, 692-2660, or Shirley Burris, 692-2250, said.

Krause predicts mandatory water cleanup if voluntary rules fail

Lewis Krause, chairman of the 208 (Clean Water Act) Policy Steering Committee for the past two years, warned during a public hearing on clean water management last week that government regulations requiring all lakes and streams in the country to be "fishable and swimmable by 1983" cannot be met.

"It took us 300 years to mess up this environment. We are not going to clean it up overnight. It's going to take time," Krause said during the meeting, which attracted only about 21 persons, most being county or sewer officials.

Krause said most of the government suggestions now in effect for clean water ask for voluntary cooperation in cleaning up water. He predicted, "A voluntary program is just not going to work. Society does not work that way. Some day it is going to be mandatory."

"The reason for forming this board is that we had better be the masters of our destiny, or big brother is going to be the master for us and it will be one more mandated program sent down by the federal government which we are supposed to do, and to pay for," Krause commented. Public Law 9250 requires that "wherever obtainable," lakes and streams should be fishable and swimmable by July 1, 1983, and by 1985, all pollution discharge into navigable waters must cease.

Krause urged cities which have not joined the three-county program to do so, noting that there are only three areas which will have local control of water pollution control—the Chicago area, Little Egypt around Cairo, and the Madison-Monroe-St. Clair County region.

The other 86 counties in the state will have clean water programs dictated to them by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, he said.

He said the proposed programs for the three areas which are attempting to have local control of water quality are on the governor's desk for approval. "Even though the program has not even been approved by the state yet, the federal government is requiring we prepare a work program for 1980," Krause said.

Robert L. Wydra, director of planning for the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission (SIMARPC), which is coordinating the 208 plan, noted that the Tri-City area (Granite City, Madison and Venice) is the only area in Madison County, except the city of Livingston, which has not joined the 208 program.

Granite City Council members have indicated they will not join until SWIMARPC can give them a better idea what the cost to the local taxpayers might be for administration of the program.

Wydra explained that the local Areawide Management Coordinating Board was first envisioned in March 1975 when Governor Daniel Walker designated this area as an areawide planning area and SIMARPC as the 208 planning agency for the area.

Initial planning began in July of 1975 and required more than two years. In January 1978, the preliminary draft of the area plan was completed and sent to local, state and federal officials for review. Public hearings occurred March 1, 1978, and the plan was adopted by local elected officials March 15 of that year.

May 15, 1978, the area's 208 plan was submitted to the Illinois and U.S. Environmental Protection Agencies for certification and approval. May 18, 1979, the IEPA submitted the plan with its recommended certification conditions to Gov. Thompson, Wydra explained.

Jerry Lavelle of Edwardsville, who was appointed a representative of the cities in Madison County on the new 208 board, objected to the modifications the IEPA had made in the regional plan. He particularly objected to the removal of a study of ground water pollution from the regional plan.

Wydra said he believes groundwater studies were removed from regional control the first year because the State Water Survey is studying the quantity of ground water in this area and the IEPA is taking the responsibility for groundwater quality.

"I believe we will be charged with identifying sources of groundwater pollution in the next round of funding in one year," Wydra predicted.

Krause also said a review of the projects approved for the regional authority by the EPA indicates the initial thrust of the study is "to take things which are visible."

Lavelle noted the federal guidelines do not prohibit the regional authority from undertaking studies beyond the scope of the approved program, but Wydra warned that such additional studies would not be eligible for federal or state funding.

Wydra also said he believes, "Each year we will have differences of opinion on local, state and federal priorities."

He explained the approved 1980 fiscal year work program has nine responsibilities. They are:

—Studying and preparing a feasible erosion and sedimentation control plan for Horseshoe Lake and the Cahokia Canal.

—Developing an effective erosion control public involvement in 208 plans and programs.

—Initiating a pilot program and a model demonstration for a soil erosion control progress reporting systems for soil and water conservation districts which can be used statewide.

—Work toward an acceptable and feasible pesticide container disposal program for the three-county area.

—Study the amount of pollution agricultural activities contribute to water and determine measures which farmers can take to reduce erosion.

—Obtain adequate data on the use of streams for use in a statewide water quality sludge disposal review.

—Evaluate the cost-effectiveness and feasibility of sharing qualified personnel in program planning and implementation on an areawide, county or sub-county basis.

—And, construct a site erosion control project to publically demonstrate the need for erosion control. An area developer is to be selected to build a model construction site using a model erosion control or even a proposed standards and specifications.

The plan will be studied further when the new AMCB Board holds its organizational meeting Thursday, Aug. 16, in Collinsville.

A reminder of things you need to know about the use of natural gas

Two years ago, the Illinois Commerce Commission issued General Order 202 declaring certain uses of natural gas non-essential. The order's intent is that natural gas should not be used for the following non-essential uses:

1. Decorative lighting or flares.
2. Gas lighting (except street lighting systems).
3. Heated or cooled air doors.
4. Swimming pool heaters.
5. Outdoor heaters and patio heaters (human comfort, non-work areas).
6. Direct heating of public, semi-public or apartment complex garages used for non-essential vehicles.

On October 15, 1977, new attachment of the above types of gas burning equipment was forbidden. Usage of gas for lighting (except street lighting systems), decorative lighting and flares and gas heated and cooled air doors should be phased out within a reasonable period of time.

Let's conserve energy now, so there will be enough for the future.

Illinois kickers edge German squad, 4-3

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — A select group of Granite City area soccer players once again bolstered the ever-growing reputation of Southern Illinois soccer Saturday night with a 4-3 victory over a touring team from Oberursel, West Germany.

Related story Page 12

It was the second time this summer the Granite City soccer players had beaten an international team. Earlier in the year the Southern Illinois Select Team beat a similar team from Australia. According to reputation, American soccer is more of a physical game, with emphasis on close man-to-man style of play. The European brand of soccer is rapidly more pass and ball handling oriented.

Both styles were in evidence Saturday as the Southern Illinoisans muscled their way to four goals, while the Germans used a more physical style, feeding the ball upfield to the forwards.

And Gasparovic, coach of the Southern Illinois team, has his doubts about the difference in the physical qualities of the Germans. "They played twice the physical game we did," he said. "But they play a different style. They hold on to your shirt and use the hip and shoulder more, while we may be tackling."

The difference may be one of degree. Of the three injury time-outs in the game, all occurred because a German player was down.

The German players often wore looks of frustration as time after time the Americans came from behind to strip the German ball carrier of the ball.

But in the end, as they say, what counts is the score. And Southern Illinois scored more goals than the Germans, even if they weren't as picturesque in doing so.

Rematch with Edwardsville

Tri-City stays alive by bombing Highland

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Just to keep things interesting, Tri-City Post 113's American Legion baseball team decided to put its back to the wall — a place it's more accustomed to — as the District 22 post-season playoffs began this weekend here.

Tri-City, co-champion of the North Division with Alton, was forced into the loser's bracket of the double-elimination playoffs by losing the Edwardsville 7-3 here Saturday. Yesterday, Tri-City came back for a 5-1 win over visiting Highland in a loser's bracket game.

Sunday's win means that Tri-City will host Edwardsville (a 7-1 loser to Alton yesterday) in a loser's bracket game today at 6 p.m. at GCHS South Field.

Edwardsville 7, Tri-City 3

Saturday, Tri-City manager Kirk Champion watched as Edwardsville did something it normally doesn't do — hit. The visitors banged out 13 safeties against Tri-City's District all-star pitcher, Al Yount. In fact, Edwardsville jumped out to a 4-0 lead before Tri-City knew what had happened.

They hit 'em where we weren't," said Champion. "But when they hit it, they hit it hard."

In the first, Edwardsville scored the first run, a RBI single by Brad Yakos, a run-scoring double by Dan Allaria and an RBI hit by Tim Clewson. In the second, Edwardsville got another run off another Yakos RBI. It was over almost before it started.

Tri-City had trouble mounting any kind of a comeback. Not because it did not put runners on base, but because it left them stranded there.

Two Tri-City runners were thrown out at the plate. The rest were left on the basepaths.

But Jeff Tretter and Jim Lewis each had two hits for Tri-City.

Tri-City 5, Highland 1

Sunday, Tri-City Tood charge in the fourth inning and never looked back. Tri-City scored two runs in the fourth against Highland starter Jay Spicuzza and tallied three more in the sixth. But as things turned out, the two fourth-inning runs were all Lindsay needed.

"Terry seems to throw a little harder late in a game than he does early," said Champion. "Some of it may come from the fact that he's trying to over-compensate. But he was throwing good today."

After pitching out of some early-inning trouble, Lindsay scattered nine hits. After giving up three in the first frame, he allowed Highland no more than an one-inning until the seventh.

In the seventh, Highland reached Lindsay for its only run, ruining his shutout bid. But the rest of the game belonged to Tri-City.

In the fourth, Jeff Tretter started things off for Tri-City when he led off with a single.

He scored on a two-out double by first baseman Jim Thurman, who scored when Mike Ambuehl smacked a double up the gap in left-centerfield. Tri-City wasted more opportunity to score when Ambuehl was thrown out, singled and went to second on an error by the catcher. Tri-City then played his best game of the season," said Champion.

He had a couple hits, drove in some runs and made super play in the outfield."

The play Champion referred to came in the sixth inning, when Highland had mounted a comeback attempt. The first two runners reached base. One on a single, the other on an error (which sent the first runner to third). With nobody out, Highland had runners on second and third.

NOSE-TO-NOSE. Tri-City Post 113 manager Kirk Champion gets as close as he can to umpire Joe Schulte Saturday in order to try and get his point across . . . arguing that Tri-City's Jim Lewis was safe in a play at home plate. It was no, no, avail. Lewis was called out, and Tri-City dropped a 7-3 decision to Edwardsville in the first round of the District 22 North Division playoffs at South Field. Tri-City will get another shot at Edwardsville tonight at 6 o'clock in loser's bracket action, also at GCHS South Field.

District 22 playoffs 'where they started'

GRANITE CITY — The playoff picture in American Legion District 22, after the first two rounds, is just as cloudy as it was before it started.

After a hectic last week of playoffs, the winners of the playoff spots were up for grabs, the loser's bracket games tonight will feature the same four teams involved in first round action Friday — due in part to a surprise by Fairview Heights.

Fairview pitcher Eric Krill threw a two-hitter at Belleville in the South Division regular season championship — Saturday and helped his team to a 2-1 upset of the Hilgards. Fairview had to win its last two games of the regular season in order to even make the playoffs. It lost to Belleville twice during the regular season and wasn't supposed to do any better this time around. But somebody forgot to tell Krill.

The all-star hurler had Belleville handcuffed so much that only four balls were hit out of the infield. In Saturday's other games, Tri-City lost to Edwardsville 7-3 (see related story), Alton edged Highland 3-2 in the North Division, and Marissa beat East St. Louis 9-1 in North Division action.

Sunday, Belleville eliminated best East St. Louis 3-0 and Marissa beat Fairview Heights 3-2 in the South. In North Division play, Tri-City eliminated Highland 5-1 (see related story) and Alton beat Edwardsville 7-4.

After the dust settles, here's how the rest of the playoffs will look: In the North Division, Tri-City will host Edwardsville today at 6 p.m. in the loser's bracket. In the South, Belleville will entertain Fairview Heights at 8 p.m. — just as each team did Saturday in the opening round.

The losers of today's games will be eliminated from the playoffs. The winners will advance to the finals of their respective divisional playoffs.

In the South, the winner of tonight's game will face

Marissa Tuesday. If it's Belleville, that's where the game will be played. If it's Fairview Heights, the game will be played at Marissa. In the North, tonight's winner will travel to Alton Tuesday.

In each case, the team from the loser's bracket must defeat either Alton or Marissa twice in order to claim the divisional crown. The second games — if needed — will be played Wednesday.

The best two-out-of-three district championship series will be July 28 and 29.

Missouri stars out-shine Illinoisans 9-2

By KEVIN ALLEN

of the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS — Scorecard. Get your scorecard. You can't tell the players apart without a scorecard.

Heine Meine field in South St. Louis. The selected are gathered — 75 of the best baseball players in the St. Louis area have come to participate in the second annual Missouri-Illinois American Legion all-star baseball game.

The 75 players wear uniforms representing almost 40 different teams. The managers substitute and shift players at a dizzying pace.

The game's scope is so large only those with a vested interest in particular players can find some order when their favorites appear among the rapid-fire entrances and departures.

Granite City sent six players to the game, three from the Glen Carbon team and three from Tri-City. All but one, pitcher Al Yount, made an appearance.

None were particularly impressive. But then few of the Illinois District 22 players were either, as Missouri won the game 9-2.

For an all-star game, this contest was notably weak defensively. Most of the fielding blunders were committed by the East side.

Illinois chipped in four of its five errors in the game to Missouri in the third and fourth innings. The result, when the seven hits Missouri added, was seven-run outbursts that propelled Missouri's eventual victory.

But back to the home-town boys. Jeff Parker, of Tri-City was the only starter. He played third base flawlessly, (he handled the ball once, recording a put-out with an assist from the center fielder) and went to bat once. In that time at bat he lined the ball sharply to the left fielder.

Bob Stegemeyer of Tri-City was a pinch-hitter in the eighth. He struck out.

Two of Glen Carbon's pitchers appeared in the game. Steve Doty came in the sixth, gave up two hits but erased both on force outs started by teammate Bob Batey.

Glen Carbon's Greg Faulkner came up in the seventh. He gave up one run, set up by passed balls that sent Manchester's Dave Talber to second and third after walk. Faulkner didn't allow any hits.

Batey appeared in the game in the sixth at second base. He went to the plate twice, striking out and grounding out to the second baseman.

As a team, the Illinois All-Stars came up with seven hits.

This unall-star figure was the result of some stiff pitching from the Missourians. Kirk Champion, coach of the Tri-City team and one of the Illinois coaches thought this most important in the game.

"They were deeper in their pitching, and their pitchers just had things together better," he said.

For the first two innings at least, Illinois pitching was equal to the Missourians. Joe Mahallow of O'Fallon was the Illinois starter.

Mahallow didn't allow a hit in his two innings, before he was lifted for a pinch hitter. Mike Reiling of St. Charles also started the game with two hitless innings. But in the third, Rob Geile of Arnold, was touched for a single run by Illinois.

Joe Ross wins third Tri-City feature race

By JEFF EAVES

For the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Joe Ross of Mechanicsburg, Ill., won his third late model feature of the year in the half-mile track at the Tri-City Speedway here Saturday night.

Ross, driving the Burger Chef 1977 Camaro owned by Bill West of Jacksonville, Ill., started on the first row outside and led every lap in the 20 lap feature.

Only two caution flags slowed the race down. The first was on the first lap in the first turn causing a five car pileup. None of the cars were damaged and all restarted. The second yellow flag was because of debris on the second turn.

Ross was followed by Dick Taylor of Springfield, Ill., Bill Myers of East Alton, Ill., Mike Wallace of Arnold, Mo., Dick Snider of Vincennes, Ind., C.C. Corbin of East Alton, Mo., and Chuck King of Decatur.

The first late-model heat was won by Dick Taylor followed by Mike Wallace, Dick Snider and C.C. Corbin. Tom Helfrich of Haubstadt, Ind., won the second heat, followed by Joe Ross, Bill Myers and Ron Fisher of Centralia.

The third heat, a non-money winners race, was taken by Gary Potter. He was followed by Mike Tobin of Springfield, Ill., Bob Miner of St. Louis, and Rodger Cairns of Brighton, Ill.

Mike Wallace won the trophy dash over Tom Helfrich, Dick Snider and Dick Taylor.

Bob Jones of Creve Coeur, Mo., won his fifth sportsman feature of the year driving his Jones-Lockhart Welding Service Camaro.

Jones started on the third row inside, but on the third lap, passed early leader Rod Bailey of Granite City and John Dick of Cahokia, and had no trouble in winning the feature.

Jones was followed by Don Holt of Vandalia, Mo., Rod Bailey, Mike Nikonovich of Granite City, Bill Ried of St. Charles, Mo., Guy Pearson of St. Peters, Mo., and Paul Humphrey Sr.

Don Holt won the first heat over Len Garson of St. Charles, Mo., Rod Bailey and Bill Ried.

Rob Jones, in his familiar heat, won the second heat over Mike Porter of Troy, Mo., John Dick and Paul Gebhart of Affton, Mo.

This Saturday at the Speedway the IMCA Midgits will be an added attraction along with the late model and sportsman cars.

On Aug. 4, the sprint cars will return on a weekly basis for the remainder of the season.

SIUE signs prep stars

EDWARDSVILLE — A trio of blue chip high school players, a duo of junior college transfers and three prep basketball stars who love to play baseball have been signed by Coach Gary (Bo) Collins, varsity baseball mentor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Heading the list of new Cougar baseballers is Tony Catlett, a brilliant catcher the past four seasons for the Boxana High Shells. A 400-plus hitter his junior and senior years, Catlett has an accurate, bullet peg to second.

The two other high school standouts who have signed are: Dan Ritzheimer, Trenton, Ill., an all-around athlete who can play at first and third as well as catch and the younger brother of the Cougars' are righthander, Tom Ritzheimer; and George Vogel, a hard-hitting (.440 this past spring) outfielder.

The pair of junior college transfers, both from Lake County Community College, are Roger Thomas and Jay Kruckman.

Thomas, who was a key player on his team which finished second in the Illinois junior college state tournament last spring, is a standout third baseman. The lack of a dependable player at the hot corner has really been costly to the Cougars the past two seasons. Thomas drove in 51 runs while hitting .423 for the Lake County nine. He's a native of Libertyville. Kruckman, a left-hand hitter who batted .350 the past campaign, is a first baseman.

U of I grid preview slated

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Illini Club will sponsor an Illini Football Preview on Tuesday, August 7, at the home of Bob and Betty Weddel, 35 Orchard Lane in Kirkwood.

John Rosenthal, assistant sports information director, and junior quarterback, Rich Weiss, will be present to discuss Coach Gary Moeller's recruiting successes and prospects for the upcoming football season. The program is part of the Illinois Football Poster Tour conducted annually by the U of I Athletic Association.

The informal meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. Hors D'oeuvres and refreshments will be served at a cost of $3.50 per person. All are alumni and friends of the University are encouraged to attend.

Reservations or additional information may be obtained by calling Sheila Woythal at 878-3891. Reservation by mail can be made by sending a check, payable to the St. Louis Illini Club, to Ned Siegel, 903 Hampton Court, Belleville, Illinois 62223. The deadline for making reservations is Saturday, August 4.

Tennis legends to play here

ST. LOUIS — Two of the greatest names in the history of tennis — Rod Lavert and Kern Rosewall — will be here Aug. 16 through 19 at the Carle Blanche Tennis Legends Tournament.

The tournament will be held in the Dwight Davis Tennis Center in Forest Park. It is the fifth-stop in a six-city tour of great player over the age of 35.

Ticket information is available by calling (314) 966-3333 or (314) 993-1852.

Musial named grand marshal

DU QUOIN — Former St. Louis Cardinal great Stan Musial has been named as the first grand marshal of the Hambletonian Trotting Classic.

The announcement was made by Jim Benedict, president of the Du Quoin State Fair, home of the Hambletonian. It will be run on Sept. 1 this year.

Musial's duties as grand marshal include acting as host of the entire event, including luncheons, receptions, and making the drawing for post positions in the race.

Cougar cage camps set

EDWARDSVILLE — Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will sponsor two Cougar basketball camps during the next few weeks, according to the Office of Conferences and Institutes.

A boys camp will be held the week of July 30, and a girls camp is scheduled the week of Aug. 6. Sessions will be from 9 a.m. until noon each day. Registration for either camp is $35.

All persons attending any of the regularly scheduled 1979 Cougar summer sports camps will be allowed to register for $25.

The camps are designed for students entering the fourth through 10th grades of elementary and high school. Each participant is responsible for providing a doctor's statement as to the student's ability to participate. A statement signed by a parent indicating that the camper has recently undergone a physical examination and certifying the youngster is fit to participate will also suffice.

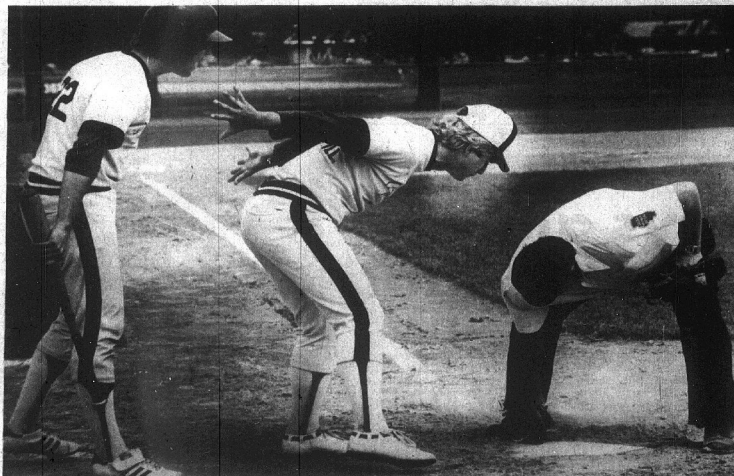

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Office of Conferences and Institutes, telephone 692-2660.

Runners do well

EDWARDSVILLE — Jane Sumner and Chris Bugnitz, of the women's track and field team at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, took top honors in their events at the Independence Invitational AAU Track and Field Meet at Blue Springs, Mo. Sumner won the women's open discus competition with a personal best of 149'1", while Bugnitz won the women's open mile with a time of 5:17.5.

Ever have one of those days?

GRANITE CITY — Things didn't quite go as planned here Saturday for Tri City Post 113's American Legion baseball team. It lost 7-5 to Edwardsville in the first round of the post-season playoffs in a game played at GCHS South's field. The locals had "one of those days," when nothing went their way.

But Tri City has had its back to the wall before during this season. It had to put on a torrid string of victories during the second half of the season in order to make the playoffs.

Make the playoffs Tri City did — and how. It tied Alton for the North Division championship.

After the loss to Edwardsville, Tri City bounced back for a 5-1 victory yesterday (Sunday) over Highland. That means the local nine will again do battle at home with Edwardsville — which lost to Alton yesterday. The loser is out. The winner plays in Alton for the divisional championship.

The backs are to the wall.

Belleville fans are German fans

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Fans lined both sides of the soccer field Saturday night watching the proceedings of a game between the Granite City select team and the Oberursel West Germany team.

The style of soccer displayed by the opposing teams was markedly different. The Americans relied on muscle, pushing and thrusting toward the goal. The Germans strength was finesse, as they passed and moved the ball one to another downfield.

On the other side of the field was the sentiment present among the spectators along the opposite sidelines.

On one side of the field were the Granite City fans. Far greater in number than the German supporters.

The Granite City fans were there to see the local talent take on the international players. They were used to seeing the Granite City players win.

On the other side of the field, straddling the midfield stripe, sat a group of fans from Belleville. In front of the contingent someone had erected a large red, yellow and black West German flag. Almost all the members of the group held similar miniature flags.

The size of the group couldn't match that of the Granite City spectators. But their enthusiasm made up for any disadvantage.

Diane Riemer wrote a grey t-shirt with Oberursel W. Germany printed in black letters on her back. She was one of about 20 of the Belleville natives who had shared their homes with the Germans for the three day visit of the Germans to the town.

"My mother cried when we had to bring them down here today," Riemer said. "We had one of the players, Frank, who stayed with us, and in the four days he was here we kind of adopted him."

The attachment that developed between the soccer team and the people from Belleville was, if the indication of those at the Granite City game an indication, very deep and genuine.

Gary Opt, head of the Bell-Clair soccer program in Belleville was of aid to Granite City's Andy Gasparovic in bringing the Germans to the area.

His was one of seven families with whom the Opt said he received over 75 calls from people in Belleville all wanting to house the Germans for the three days.

The 15 players finally were kept by seven different families. Two of the families spoke fluent German, the others didn't.

The problem, however wasn't a particularly large obstacle. Both Opt and Riemer said communication between the Americans and Germans, while slow at times, was good.

"My grandfather just loved it," Riemer said. "He's originally from Germany but he doesn't get a chance to speak German now. So when the German kids were here he spent a lot of time talking to each other in German."

Opt said the city of Oberursel is similar in size and geography to Belleville. "When the kids came to Granite City they all talked about how fast everything was, with the factories and everything," he said.

Opt was wearing a t-shirt with name Andy printed on the back. It was, he explained, because Andre's Sondergeld had stayed with his family.

Andy didn't disappoint his host. In the game he scored all three of the Germans' goals.

A nice way to say good-bye.

Beck named to Bethalto grid post

BETHALTO — Granite City South assistant coach Leroy Beck has been named as the new head football coach at Civic Memorial High School in Bethalto. The announcement was made here Friday.

Beck, 34 years old, has been in charge of South's offense for the last six years including last season when he helped guide Stan Wojcik's Warriors to a 5-4 record — including wins in their last four in a row.

Beck, who recently moved into a new home in Dorsey, will teach physical education at Civic Memorial. He replaces Garry Brandt, who took the job a year ago. Last season, Bethalto had a 2-6 record. Brandt resigned to take a position elsewhere.

A native of Flora, Ill., Beck came to Granite City from Alton, where he also served as an assistant coach. In addition to his football duties, he was an assistant track coach at GCHS South.

One of the factors that led to Beck's taking the Bethalto job was the fact that a new $5.5 million school — including a new football field — was recently completed there.

"The new facility there is fantastic," said Beck. "Most other schools are deteriorating and their enrollments are dropping. But not in Bethalto."

Beck said he does not anticipate any changes in the rest of the existing football personnel at Civic Memorial.

ball about 30 feet out to the left of the goal.

Moore's shot bounced in past German goal keeper Frank Vette, who was apparently screened on the shot.

Minutes later, the Germans had an opportunity to tie the score. The recipient of a penalty kick from in front of the Granite City goal, the Germans got off a high shot that Southern Illinois goal keeper Tom Korte was just able to reach for the save.

Late in the first half, the Germans managed to tie the score. When Andres Sondergeld, Germany's sweeper, connected on shot just in front of the goalie. The ball got by Korte to his left for the score.

The half ended in a tie, but Southern Illinois regained its original one goal lead early in the second half. Defenseman Bob Stacey scored on a hard shot from about 20 feet out.

Granite City's Loyd Sharp and Greg White each scored again in the second period, while Germany's Sondergeld added another goal for the visitors.

White's goal came with about seven minutes left in the game. He slipped a low shot past Vette for the score. Seconds later, Sondergeld made it three goals for the night with shot straight on goal that escaped Korte grasp.

Just before White's goal the Southern Illinois defense displayed some remarkable toughness. With an onslaught putting pressure on goalie Korte, a shot sent Korte to the ground.

The ball popped free, however, and the Germans regained possession. Just before the Germans could add to the score, a Southern Illinois defenseman got in front of the goal and sent a deflected shot, preserving the Granite City lead.

"It's amazing the advancement this team has made over the past eight months," Gasparovic said. "In that time this team has just been fantastic. It's an indication of the type of coaching they get in the schools."

Vette admitted his team, unaccustomed as it was to the humidity in this area, was beginning to tire after its busy schedule.

"I don't want to minimize the play of the Americans, though," he said. "They're greatly improved from what I've seen before. This is probably the best team we've faced."

Then John Keller did the same thing. Two out. Jon Kottkamp then smacked a sinking line drive in Ambuehl's direction in left field. The Tri City player dived forward and came up with a shoestring catch, ending the inning and the Highland threat.

In the bottom of the sixth, Tri City came up with three runs after two were out.

BETHALTO — Glen Carbon's American Legion baseball team ended its season like it began it, Tuesday — it won.

But the win over Bethalto was one of only eight this season for Glen Carbon against 10 losses. Between the opening victory over Edwardsville and the game Tuesday, Glen Carbon had problems that just weren't apparent at the onset.

With most of its players coming from the Granite City North Stealers, a team which came within a game of challenging for the Illinois state baseball championship, Glen Carbon seemed the favorite to finish atop District 22 standings. Not many thought Glen Carbon, blessed as it was with good solid hitters would have any difficulty in at least finishing among the top four in its division.

But that was before the season, and subsequently, Glen Carbon's problems began.

"We never put together what you'd call a winning streak," Art Jovi, Glen Carbon's coach said. "We'd win a few, and then quit hitting and start losing again."

Hitting, Glen Carbon's presumed strength, in the end was the ingredient obviously and sorely missed in the mix.

At one point in the season, Glen Carbon had four hitters over the .300 mark. That statistic stood in sharp contrast to the point in the high school season when the North Stealers had seven hitters over .300.

One of those seven, Tom Greco, finished the season with North batting almost .500. Tuesday, after the conclusion of the Legion season for Glen Carbon, Greco was batting closer to .250.

In addition to the decline in Glen Carbon's hitting, its best pitcher, Steve Doty, spent most of his time this season off the mound.

With a recurring shoulder problem plaguing him, he failed to record a single win all season.

"You figure Doty had only two good games all year. That really hurt," Jovi said. "His game against Tri-City was good, and the one against Highland where he lost, but after that he got hurt. He did a good job at third when he played there though."

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD SCHAR-DAN. They exchanged wedding vows April 28 at the Word of Life Tabernacle. The bride is the former Miss Cheryl Davis, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davis of Granite City.

(Callup-Newsphoto)

Cheryl Davis weds Richard E. Schardan

Miss Cheryl E. Davis and Richard E. Schardan were united in marriage April 28 at Word of Life Tabernacle in an evening ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davis of Granite City. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schardan, also of Granite City.

The Rev. Henry Crippen performed the double ring ceremony. Organist Phyllis Talley accompanied Vickie Simpson as she sang "Time In A Bottle," "The Wedding Song" and "Wedding Prayer."

For her wedding, the bride selected an organza gown with scalloped chintillee trimming the open neckline and edging the A-line skirt. The long tapered sleeves were of matching lace, and chintillee motifs accented the skirt. She wore a cap of chintillee securing a fingertip veil and carried a nosegay bouquet of melon and rust carnations, white daisies, yellow sweetheart roses and baby breath.

Maid of honor Sheila Orr, the bride's sister, wore a rust colored polyester gown with matching lace bodice and a chiffon capelet.

Bridesmaids were JoAnn Davis, a sister-in-law of the bride, Brenda Squires, Linda Moats, Paula Orr and Debbie Luntzer. They wore similar gowns in shades of melon and rust.

The attendants carried a nosegay bouquet of yellow carnations, orange sweetheart roses, bronze pom poms and baby breath. The mother of the bride, Mrs. Davis, wore a burgundy polyester floor length gown with a pink cowl neck and a hooded jacket.

Mrs. Schardan, the groom's mother, wore a floor length dress of aqua polyester with draped sleeves forming a cape effect.

Flower girls were Jennifer Davis, a niece of the bride, and Becky Hoelter, a niece of the groom. Ring bearer was Nathan Knezevich.

The groom chose Ed Hagnauer to serve as best man. Groomsmen were Bruce Davis, the bride's brother, Steve and Jim Schardan, the groom's brothers, Ron Selph and Bob Knezevich.

Bob and Charlie Palus, the groom's cousins, seated the guests.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in their home. A reception was held at the Croatian Home. Alison Bell attended the guest book.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Granite City High School North and is employed in St. Louis. The groom is a 1976 graduate of Granite City Senior High School.

The couple is residing in Granite City after a wedding trip to Table Rock Lake.

Workshop for adult learners

A how-to-do-it workshop for adult learners who want to go to college but are afraid to try will be held Monday, Aug. 6, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The free program, sponsored by the Gerontology Program and the Counseling and Testing Center at SIUE, will show prospective students how to get into college even without a high school diploma, how to get college credit for what they already know, and how to find out what they are good at or what they might like to do. Also, how to apply for financial aid, tutoring and other services to help them do it.

Advisors will also be available to assist prospective students in planning programs leading to a degree, finish ways to juggle classes with work schedules or family responsibilities, and give advice on changing a career. The workshop will meet from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. in the Mississippi Room of the University Center.

Child care service is available at the Day Care Center on campus for children 2-12 years old, for a $5 fee for each child. Arrangements are made in advance, by telephoning 692-2365.

Pre-registration for the workshop and arrangements for babysitting are preferred by Wednesday, Aug. 1.

Parking is free during workshop hours in any red-decal lot. Additional information is available by contacting Max Hensel, counselor at SIUE, at 692-2100 or the Gerontology Program at 692-3454.

Auxiliary fetes Nancy Mullen

Nancy Mullen, Eagles Auxiliary mother, was honored at last week's meeting on the occasion of her birthday.

Mrs. Mullen was escorted to the altar by Florida Batson, trustee, and was presented with a cake and gifts by Shirley Robinson, president.

The group met in the Eagle Aerie 1126, located at 2558 Madison Ave.

Margaret Smith was voted into the auxiliary, bringing total membership to 204.

Reports were given by Helen Frazier, secretary, Leona Delaloye, treasurer, and Kathleen Reed, visiting chairman.

It was agreed the ways and means committee will take part in a dinner program held each Friday night in the Aerie clubrooms, with chairmen and co-chairmen of various charities sponsored by the auxiliary serving dinner to Eagle members and guests.

Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Reed were hostesses at a luncheon following the business session.

Music was provided by the pianist, Louise Hall, and the closing prayer was offered by Eileen Rickert, chaplain. Prizes were won by Annie Reed and Mary Hayron.

ENERGY CRISIS

Is there really a gas shortage? Members of the Granite City Optimist Club will find out. Mobil Oil's position at their 12 noon meeting Thursday at the YMCA. Speaking to the Optimist will be William S. McAndrew, marketing manager for Mobil Oil of Missouri and Illinois, since 1958. John Voyles, program chairman for the service club is encouraging all club members to attend.

To cope with garden problems, find cause

By CHRIS DOLL

Area Gardening Adviser
Growing a perfect garden is the goal of every gardener. But variations in soils, weather, varieties, and gardening methods insure that some problem will occur every year.

Identifying the cause may help prevent a problem from happening again.

Among common problems are hairy, split or forked carrots, poorly filled ears of corn, misshapen tomatoes, hot and split onions, and non-fruited pepper plants.

Hairy carrots develop from irregular weather when the carrots are small or from improper excessive use of fertilizers. This can be overcome by making successive plantings to offset the weather factor, and by using recommended rates of fertilizer. Occasionally, excess organic matter in the soil will also increase hairiness.

Forked and deformed carrots are caused by compacted soil. Plant carrots in a loose, friable soil and avoid working the soil when wet.

The poor filling of sweet corn ears is usually due to poor pollination. Since corn pollen is carried by the wind, pollination is improved by planting two or more rows of the same variety side by side.

The rows should be 30-24 inches apart. Also, temperature of 85 to 100 degrees sometimes cause "tassel burn," which prevents pollen release and reduces the amount of pollination.

Odd shaped tomatoes sometimes are caused by cold weather at pollination time, by herbicides, and by varieties. If caused by cold weather, the fruits will be one-sided. Herbicides should affect the foliage as well as the fruit, so check for normal leaf shape.

Varieties such as Beefsteak and some of the other large kinds tend toward abnormal shape except with ideal growing conditions.

Split or twin onions are the result of poor growing conditions affecting some varieties. These same conditions of drought, compacted soil, and improper fertilization increase the hotness or pungency while reducing size. And, some varieties are naturally hotter than others. Sweet varieties tend to be less adapted for storage than others.

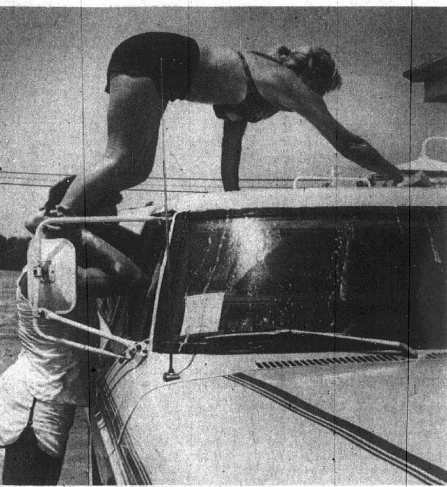

The "no pepper" syndrome is usually due to climate. Assuming that nutrients and water are available, the problem becomes one of temperature.

Temperatures below 50 degrees F anytime, and above 70 at nighttime usually cause the flowers to drop. A week or two of more desirable temperatures will help the pepper set.

These are a few of the common problems of the summer garden.

Recognizing the problem and its cause can be the first step toward prevention in the future.

PRACTICING? Cheerleaders Bill Hayden and Donna Dorsey aren't practicing a cheer for the upcoming soccer season. They simply have found a new technique for washing the roof of a truck at one of the car washes being held to raise money for the squad's trip to the West Coast this fall with the SIUE soccer team.

Outdoor novena will begin

The 23th annual outdoor novena to be held at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows is set for Saturday, July 28, through Sunday, Aug. 5.

Liturgies will begin at 8 each evening at the Shrine Outdoor Amphitheater, 9500 W. Ill. Rt. 15.

Fr. Alvin Illig, CSP, the feature speaker for all nine evenings, will address this year's novena theme, "Sharing Christ as Mary Did." He is the executive director of the Ad Hoc Committee on the Evangelization of the National conference of Catholics Bishops of the United States.

In the past four years, Fr. Illig has been directly involved in studying and establishing short and long term programs designed to "reach out" to the churchless and to alienated Catholics.

On the opening night, July 28, Fr. Leo Figge will be the main celebrant for the 8 p.m. Mass. Fr. Edwin J. Guid, Shrine founder, and Fr. Thomas Singer, Shrine director, will be concelebrants.

FR. ALVIN ILLIG

The annual outdoor novena, celebrated since 1951, commemorates the Aug. 5 Feast of Our Lady of the Snows. On the closing night, Bishop William Cosgrove, bishop of Belleville, will be the main celebrant for the Feast.

Fr. William Westman, provincial of Oblates of the Central U.S. Province, and Fr. Donald Ferguson, associate director of the Missionary Association of Mary Immaculate, will be the concelebrants.

Area groups that will provide music for the liturgies include St. Francis Xavier (College Church) in St. Louis, Second Nature Brass Quintet, Cathedral Men's Choir, St. Teresa's Adult Choir, and the Shrine Choir.

The traditional candlelight procession will follow the liturgies on Saturday, July 28; Saturday, Aug. 4; and the closing night, Aug. 5.

WMRY-FM 101 will broadcast the homilies each evening.

ENGAGED. A Sept. 1 wedding is being planned by Miss Kendra Sardigal and Mark E. Townzen. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sardigal of Madison and Mrs. Betty Jass of Granite City.

September wedding planned

The engagement of Miss Kendra J. Sardigal and Mark E. Townzen is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sardigal, 1917 Harris St., and Mrs. Betty Jass of Granite City.

The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Townzen of Edwardsville.

The couple is planning a Sept. 1 wedding.

Miss Sardigal is a 1979 graduate of Madison High School.

Her fiancé is a 1976 graduate of Edwardsville High School and is employed as a foreman at a Diamond Plating in Madison.

Music Under Stars finale

The Granite City Park District's "Music Under the Stars" choruses will conclude their 1979 concert series at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Wilson Park ice rink pavilion.

Featured in the grand finale program will be songs from the musicals, "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Music Man," as well as the mellow sounds of light pop, according to Mary Ann Bright, Music Under the Stars director.

Admission is free and ample seating is provided by the park district.

The adult and children's choruses will present a varied selection in its musical presentations, Mrs. Bright said.

Included in the evening's performance will be: "Mame," "High Hopes," "Kids" from the musical, "Bye, Bye, Birdie," "A Medley of Gershwin and Porter Songs," "Seventy-Six Trombones," "Till There Was You," "Pick-a-Little, Talk-a-Little and Goodnight Ladies," "Let's Take an Old Fashioned Walk," "Cherish," "Somewhere My Love," "Try to Remember," "This Guy's in Love With You" and "I'm Just Wild About Harry."

WOMAN IS HURT
Martha Cuff, 50, Bridgeton, Mo., was injured in an auto accident and was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 4 p.m. Thursday. She suffered abrasions to her right forearm and pain to neck and an ankle and was released after emergency room treatment.

County turns down sale of Bo Beuckman home to Aid Society

By JUDY TAPLIN
The Madison County Board, without comment, has taken the recommendation of its zoning board and denied a special use permit which would have enabled Bo Beuckman to sell his home near Collinsville to the Children's Home and Aid Society of Illinois.

Although several sources say they believe Beuckman has said that he hasn't talked to his lawyers and has been too busy to even think about a lawsuit.

It would have been up to County Board Member Frank Vivod, Collinsville, to request that the board overturn the recommendation of its zonors.

Vivod sat quietly when the Beuckman petition — grouped together with a number of other zoning board petitions and never mentioned by name — was voted on by the board last week.

Vivod said he was "pressured" by both sides in the controversial issue. He said he made up his mind that morning that he would not intervene for Beuckman and the home.

He informed County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of his decision before the board meeting, he said.

Vivod said he could not, in good conscience, make the request because he did not believe that the special permit should be given.

The Beuckman home is the former residence of the late Frank "Buster" Wortman. A subdivision is being built in a partial ring around the property.

The Children's Home and Aid Society was proposing to purchase the property to house as many as 10 troubled teenage girls who need to live away from their families for a time.

Judy Hall, director for the Home and Aid Society's southwestern region — including Madison, St. Clair and Jersey counties — estimates it would cost between $150,000 and $160,000 a year to operate the home. This would be in addition to the sale price, which is listed with Ira Berry Realtors as $250,000.

Beuckman says the asking price was considerably lower than that figure, however.

At an on-site hearing July 9, a Bill Wortman told the county zoning board of appeals that he and his brother would be hurt financially if the home were allowed, because he might be unable to sell lots in the subdivision.

A number of people living in the area also spoke at the hearing — all in opposition to the home. They were concerned that the occupants of the home would be a bad influence on their own children.

The zoning board itself was split on the issue of the special use permit. In a vote July 9, three of the seven members voted in favor of the permit and four opposed it.

Illinois law requires that there must be five votes in favor for approval.

The county board also is at odds with the District Council 58 to change the salary schedule for CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) painter trainees in the county's painting program.

The Council and county have agreed to establish a 30-day probation period and a four-step wage scale over an 18-month period.

The change was made necessary by a new regulation which allows persons to be employed in CETA jobs for only 18 months of any five-year period.

The agreement will save the county some expense, Hagnauer noted, because previously the county had to pay the tab for salaries over $10,000 per year.

The CETA painter will begin at $3.84 per hour and from the sixth to 18th month will be paid $5.20 an hour.

—Voted to hire the engineering firm of Flagg, Scheibel and Sherbut for design and engineering of a sprinkler system at the Madison County Sheltered Care Home.

The state fire marshal is requiring the sprinkler system. The engineering firm will also be used for design and engineering of a sprinkler system at the Madison County Sheltered Care Home.

He denied hitting her, was uncooperative and used loud and profane language, officers alleged. When attempts were made to arrest him, he allegedly resisted and was struck on the head with a police flashlight by Patrolman Douglas Law, according to official reports.

Sgt. William Harris arrived and aided in handcuffing and arresting Schmidt, it was reported.

At the police building, Schmidt allegedly refused to answer questions or to surrender his personal property. He allegedly charged at Sgt. Harris with his fists clenched and force was again used to subdue him and put him in a cell.

Although he was injured in the scuffles, Schmidt declined to be taken to the hospital.

MARRIED. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McInally exchanged wedding vows June 2 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church. The bride is the former Miss Elaine Noeth, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Noeth of Granite City.

Elaine Noeth is wed to Bruce McInally

St. Elizabeth Catholic Church was the scene of the June 2 nuptials of Miss Elaine Noeth and Bruce McInally.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Noeth, 2550 Ivy Lane. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McInally of Silverwood, Mich.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Father Kenneth Becker at 2 p.m. before an altar decorated with arrangements of white mums.

Organist Jane Koziellek accompanied soloist Marie Noeth as she sang "Speak Softly Love," "Sunrise, Sunset," "The Sabbath Prayer," "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Song."

The bride, escorted to the altar by her parents, wore a white gown fashioned with a blouson bodice with a sheer yoke of silk Venise floral appliques.

The long slender sleeves repeated the sheer net with floral motifs while the entire hemline was edged with matching lace. The skirt extended into a full sweep chapel train.

She wore a lace cap to secure her waltz-length veil trimmed in matching lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and pink silk roses, gardenias and baby breath, accented with live rosebuds and white ribbons.

Honor attendant was Miss Rita Byrne. She wore a gown of ivory organza with an appleblossom print in shades of pink. The blouson style dress had a full skirt.

Bridesmaids Miss Janice Noeth, a sister of the bride, Mrs. Gwen Krukoski, Miss Donna Roseman and Miss

Gail Waldo wore identical gowns.

The attendants wore pink silk rosebuds in their hair and carried colonial bouquets of mums in shades of pink with live rosebuds, baby breath and pink ribbons.

Dennis Crain served as best man. Groomsman were David McInally, a brother of the groom, Jim and Jerry Noeth, brothers of the bride, and Mark Barteld.

Ushers were Karen Richardson, David McInally and Jerry Noeth.

Mrs. Noeth, the bride's mother, wore a rose colored A-line silesta gown with long sleeves. The groom's mother, Mrs. McInally, wore a light blue polyester gown with a white lace bodice and sleeves. Both wore corsages of pink rosebuds.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Round Table Restaurant. A reception was held following the ceremony at St. Mary's Engelbert Hall in Madison. The guest book was attended by Toni Failoni and Cecilia Hall.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Granite City High School South and a 1978 graduate of St. Louis College of Pharmacy. She is employed as a registered pharmacist.

The groom graduated from Mayville High School in 1973 and from Lake Superior State College in 1977. He is employed as an engineer at International Telephone and Telegraph in Des Plaines, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. McInally are residing in Wheeling, Ill. after a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico.

Births, marriages show increase

The monthly report of vital statistics for Madison County from the office of County Clerk Miss Evelyn M. Bowles shows an increase in births and marriages and a decrease in deaths; 287 births have been recorded for June 1979, while there were 274 births recorded in June of last year. Three sets of twins were born, as compared to six sets in June 1978.

Four hundred and twenty-eight marriages have been recorded, an increase of 97. The number of deaths decreased slightly, 174 compared to 181.

After completing her hours and receiving her beautician's license, she was awarded a scholarship from American Steel Foundries through the Junior Achievement Program to begin student teacher training at the Capri Beauty Academy (formerly Joseph's), where she taught the co-op high school students.

She is a 1978 graduate of Granite City High School South and is employed at the Fourth Seasons Salon, 1609 Third St., Madison.

Class of 1949 reunion Aug. 11

A reunion of the Granite City Senior High School January and June classes of 1949 will be held Aug. 11 at the Sunset Hills Country Club.

The event will begin at 6:30 p.m., with dinner and dancing. Art LaVelle's Starlighters will provide entertainment.

Reservations are still being accepted. The cost is $37.50 per couple, and members of the January class can send reservations to Mrs. Julia Portell, 2335 Penton Road, Granite City. Members of the June class may send reservations to Mrs. Frank Kraus, 2585 Spalding Ave., Granite City.

Parent group to hear Shriners

Parents Without Partners Eastside Chapter 91 will have a general meeting Aug. 6 at the VFW Hall in Collinsville. Shriners will be on hand to show slides and discuss the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children.

A regional meeting will be held Aug. 11 at the Carlyle KC Hall, followed by a dance.

A trip to Six Flags Amusement Park is scheduled for Aug. 19.

Reservations may be made by calling 875-4946. A board meeting will be held Aug. 28 at Union Savings and Loan in Collinsville.

FUEL SUPPLIES BETTER IN STATE

The Illinois Institute of Natural Resources reported last week the gasoline supply situation in Illinois has improved since June, with the expected shortfall for July to be 8.5 percent. But the institute noted also that traffic counts are higher, indicating motorists are weakening in their conservation efforts.

The outlook for the rest of the summer is favorable, the institute said, if drivers exercise the restraint shown in recent months.

4 dismissed employees sue county treasurer

A suit has been filed in Madison County Circuit Court against County Treasurer Michael S. "Mick" Henkhaus by Local 799 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees and by four former employees of the treasurer's office who were fired in January.

The suit was filed by the union and by former employees Nancy Ann Gardina, a clerk-typist, and Alvin W. Kahler Sr., Patrick Gardie and Mary E. Dixon, all clerks.

It alleges the firing of the four employees was an action subject to a grievance procedure, but Henkhaus refuses to arbitrate the grievances.

"Said grievances are arbitrable and defendant (Henkhaus) is legally obligated to submit to arbitration with respect to said grievances," the suit contends.

It seeks an order declaring the rights of the four former employees, an injunction compelling Henkhaus to submit the grievances to arbitration, and any other relief the courts deems proper.

Biking by her young son worries Mom

If there ever was an instrument of total destruction, bicycle is its name. Some dummy taught my darling Dennis how to ride a two wheeler, and I have seen my life flashing before my eyes ever since.

I have been dreading my young son's taking to a bicycle since the day he was born. He's such a klutz, I have had visions of my "baby" being squashed on some street for years. For years I put off teaching him the joys of bike riding.

Ross never worried me in the bike department. He was riding by the time he was four and had the good sense to mind Mommie and stay on the sidewalk where all small children belong.

Dennis the menace is quite another story. He hasn't learned to come in out of the rain, and he's not afraid of anything.

One day, while I was out and completely unaware of what was going on, my babysitter taught my rambunctious six, almost seven year old, to ride. I have been threatening to murder that sinner ever since.

"Mom, I learned to ride my bike!" he told me that night. I was not thrilled. I knew what was coming and I felt my heart attack about to begin. "That's fine, son," I told him. "Just stay out of the street. I don't care for squashed kids."

He promised as faithfully as a six year old can and I sat back to wait for the inevitable. I didn't have long to wait.

Crash! The boy and his bike had hit a car—a parked car, thank goodness. He sported a blackened eye and a scrape to the side of his face that made him look as if I had been dragging him down the street behind the car. I patched him up and sent him back outside, warning him to stay away from the street. I watched as he took out, sailing as fast as he could pedal, directly into the street. Before I could yell at him, he was down again.

This whole scene was repeated at least 40 times over the next few days. My kid looks like he's been sleeping with a saber-toothed tiger.

Things are beginning to settle down. He only fell twice today.

He doesn't cry anymore when he falls; rather, he wears his scrapes and cuts as a sort of badge of courage. Mom's courage comes from the ice pack resting on the head.

I hope I make it through the bike period. Then all I'll have to look forward to will be his learning to drive a car. Oh, no.

Osteoarthritis vs. weekend athletes

More Americans than ever before are aware of physical fitness and are performing a multitude of physical activities. And the weekend athlete, now jogging, bowling, playing tennis or golf, or participating in organized football and basketball leagues, may be placing extreme tension on muscles and joints not used in years.

The result could be a disease called "osteoarthritis," according to Dr. Arch Aherm, chairman of the Medical and Scientific Committee of the metropolitan area chapter of the Arthritis Foundation.

Osteoarthritis is a disease of the joints that involves a breakdown of cartilage and other tissues which operate properly according to Dr. Aherm. The damage from osteoarthritis is confined to the joint and surrounding tissues. There is little or no inflammation, but pain and limitation of normal motion sometimes occur.

"Osteoarthritis is often described as a 'wear-and-tear' disease," Dr. Aherm said. "It frequently is just that—but not always. The fact that it affects millions of Americans signals that the public should become more aware of it and the resulting problems.

"Every year an estimated 17 million Americans are injured while participating in professional and amateur sports," Dr. Aherm continued. "They tear ligaments, sprain muscles, dislocate and fracture bones.

A passing sports injury in a joint today can mean a major arthritis problem much later in life unless proper early care is taken."

A common label for osteoarthritis in recent years has been "degenerative joint disease." Some physicians also call it arthritis, osteoarthritis, and hypertrophic arthritis. Osteoarthritis in certain joints has special names.

Strictly speaking, osteoarthritis can occur in any joint. Certain joints are more prone to become involved than others. Some seem to be spared except when they have been injured.

The most commonly involved joints are those that bear weight, such as the hips, knees and spine.

Also involved frequently are the terminal joints of the fingers and joints at the base of the thumb and big toe.

Osteoarthritis can be troublesome sometimes in the joints of the jaw and in the second row of finger joints.

As mentioned, many people with osteoarthritis are not bothered by it even though there may be visible evidence. When there is trouble, the number one symptom is pain. Most patients experience only mild aching and soreness, particularly with movement. Some patients may have constant nagging pain which will persist even in rest.

The second most common symptom is loss of mobility. This usually is noticed as inability to perform easy, comfortable movements of the joints involved. Severe loss of motion is unusual but it can occur to the point when a joint is completely stiff.

With soreness and loss of joint mobility, the muscles serving the joint become weakened and overall body coordination and posture may be affected.

According to Dr. Aherm, the pain of osteoarthritis may be confined to the joint area or it may spread to the general part of the body involved.

In rare instances, the pain may be felt some distance from the involved joint. In this case it is called "referred" pain. For example, an osteoarthritis in the hip may produce pain in the region of the knees.

The treatment for osteoarthritis consists of controlling pain and discomfort by drugs, protecting the joints from stresses and strains, and correcting faulty joint mechanics.

Aspirin is the single drug most widely used in treatment of osteoarthritis. Exercise and rest in varying amounts are often prescribed. But, again, quantity and type will depend on the particular condition of the patient.

If sports injuries are sustained and not treated properly, chances are good that osteoarthritis will develop. But, there are several things that Dr. Aherm suggested can be done to minimize the risk of injury and prevent further damage:

Be physically fit before attempting strenuous activity, and do so in moderation. Warm-up exercises of 5 to 10 minutes are necessary to warm the joints and thus help prevent ruptures and sprains.

Quit when you are tired. If your activity calls for it, wear protective equipment.

Should you incur an injury, seek prompt medical attention to minimize the impact of injury and prevent further damage. With proper care and rehabilitation, the severity of an injury can be minimized.

"Parents of young athletes must also become aware of the potential seriousness of sports injuries, and be sure they are treated appropriately to prevent long-term complications," Dr. Aherm said.

Reiske in 27th term as head of Trades Council

Edwin F.J. Reiske was installed last week in his 27th consecutive term as president of the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council during a meeting of the council at the Labor Temple.

Installed as vice-president was Tom Nesbit of Local 90, Cement Finishers Union.

Other officers installed included Helen Peters, Local 461 Cooks and Waitresses Union, financial secretary; James Arnett, Local 30 United Steelworkers; treasurer; Elmer Noud, Local 392 Laborers Union, recording secretary.

Installed as trustees in three-year terms were Roy Logan of the Boilermakers Union and George Amish Jr., of the American Federation of Teachers. John Petish Jr., Local 309 of the Electricians Union, was installed as a trustee to fill a two-year unexpired term.

Theodore Thomas, Local 1063 United Steelworkers, was installed as guide and George Geggus, Local 120 of the Painters Union, was installed as guard.

Teacher center here is renewed

Harold E. Briggs, regional superintendent of schools, has received verbal notice that the Madison County Teacher Center proposal has been approved by the Office of Health, Education and Welfare for the second year.

This is a federally-funded proposal in the amount of $84,159, with his office serving as fiscal agent.

A policy board consisting of members representing Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and the public and non-public schools of Madison County has Dr. Don Baden, a professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, serving as chairman. Ral Althoff is the director of the Madison County Teacher Center.

Madison County was one of two proposals renewed in Illinois. No new proposals were approved for funding of the 19 submitted from this state.

The Madison County Teacher Center will continue to develop varied approaches to teacher needs, Briggs said. The first will be a responsive professional development center providing short term workshops, institutes, and courses designed to meet specific assessed needs of teachers.

Resources for this center will come from such existing programs as Title IV-C, validated projects, university personnel, and exceptional teachers from within and outside the area.

A second approach will provide for sharing existing resources more effectively through increased coordination and communication.

A third component will set up material development centers throughout the county where teachers can develop and share instructional aids.

The final facet will be a Teacher Forum which will seek persons who can infuse new ideas and stimulate the thoughts of teachers.

These components, each focusing on a different level of concern, will operate in a variety of sites throughout the area. The locations evolve out of need, rather than all needs coming to one location, Briggs related.

The office location of the director is SIUE, Building II, Room 1122. Satellite centers are located at:

LeClaire School, 801 Franklin Road, Edwardsville.

East Alton Junior High School, 1000 Third St., East Alton.

Mitchell School, 316 E. Chain of Rocks Road, Granite City.

Highland Junior High School, 1600 Lindenthal, Highland.

2 from here study debate

One hundred twenty school students from 14 states were at the University of Kansas attending the second of two sessions of the KU Speech and Debate Institute July 8 to 21, including Wally Bryjak, 19 Oakland Drive, and Karen Toussaint, 117 Riviera Drive.

The institute is directed by Robin Rowland, a former KU debater and a member of KU's 1976 national champion debate team. Other instructors for the camp are KU debaters and speech communications faculty.

Special guest speaker on July 12 was William B. English, director of forensics at Baylor University, who spoke on debate theory.

Special guest speaker on July 16 was Frank Cross, 1977 KU graduate and 1976 national champion, who now attends Harvard Law School.

The students are researching and holding practice debates on the topic "Resolved: That the United States should significantly change its foreign trade policy." The program also includes special sessions on informative and persuasive speaking, extemporaneous speaking, argumentation and debate theory.

Essential elements of medicine cabinet

The home medicine cabinet, so often taken for granted as merely a common bathroom fixture, can be the most vital of home health care aids. It can also be one of the most dangerous health hazards in the home.

Dr. Richard J. Ham, assistant professor and family practitioner at the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine, advises that a safely placed, well stocked, and properly maintained medicine cabinet is of utmost importance.

"The medicine cabinet, medicine chest, drug cupboard, or whatever you choose to call it, serves two very basic and important functions," says Dr. Ham. "It serves mainly as the family's first-aid kit and as a storage place for medications."

"For the simple reason that it contains medications, the medicine cabinet should be placed out of children's reach and be fitted with some type of latch that would make it difficult for a small child to open," says Dr. Ham.

Aside from these somewhat obvious safety measures, there are certain basic items that should be kept in the drug cupboard to provide first aid for minor illness and injuries.

Aspirin, in both adult dosage and children's dosage, is useful for reducing fever and inflammation as well as being a good general pain reliever. The aspirin substitute acetaminophen is also a good general pain reliever. Though it has virtually no effect on inflammation or fever, it still may be kept on hand in both an adult dosage and in children's size.

Syrup of Ipecac should be in every medicine cabinet. This medication is used to induce vomiting in cases of accidental overdoses or poisoning.

It is advisable, however, to contact a physician or the hospital emergency room before giving ipecac. Vomiting should not be induced for any oil based products or anything corrosive.

Dressings and bandages should also be kept on hand. Band-aids, or the usual can of assorted band-aids, the medicine cabinet should also contain sterile pads, tape, and non-sterile dressings, gauze and conventional bandages for the treatment of minor injuries.

An antiseptic wash such as betadine should be kept on hand to sterilize cuts and scrapes.

A thermometer is also a useful item to have in the medicine cabinet so that body temperature can be monitored in the event of cold or flu.

Chloraseptic, which can be used as an early treatment for sore throats, and calamine lotion, a safe remedy for minor burns and almost any itchy rash, would also be useful.

Dr. Ham warns against overstocking the medicine cabinet. "Most medications have a limited shelf-life and lose their potency with time. Old drugs, especially antibiotics, should be thrown away."

All medications, no matter how seemingly harmless, should be kept in the medicine cabinet.

According to Dr. Ham, simple iron tablets can be highly toxic to children and are responsible for a high percentage of accidental overdoses each year.

The nightstand and the breakfast table are not the places to keep medicines," says Dr. Ham. "With children around, it's just asking for trouble."

Dr. Ham also stressed that non-prescription medications for colds or chronic problems such as warts or athletes foot are best bought as needed and not stored up.

He adds that it is important for external medications to be placed on a separate shelf from internal ones. "This will help avoid some of the mix-ups that occur every year because of accidental poisoning and overdose."

Those who would like more information on the medicine cabinet and home health care may contact the county medical society or write to SIU Health Facts, Southern Illinois University School of Medicine, Springfield 62708.

Teachers unhappy with the governor

Robert Healey, president of the 45,000 member Illinois Federation of Teachers, last week assailed Governor Thompson over school funding. Healey projected a dire financial crisis for Illinois public schools due to Thompson's $22 million reduction of school funding allocations.

In response to the governor's plan to reduce the corporate property tax replacement, Healey accused the governor of misleading the public. "The governor claims this is a new tax and that is just not true," Healey said.

"Illinois businesses were always supposed to pay around $800 million in Taxes. The legislature reduced that to $520 million and the governor wants to reduce it to $460 million. An even greater burden will fall on the individual taxpayer."

Healey charged the governor with succumbing to the pressures of "those corporations that historically have been tax avoiders" as opposed to "responsible corporations that have always paid their fair share and support the new tax."

The IFT has initiated a statewide drive to urge the public to voice its feelings to the governor in the hope that he will sign the replacement bill as approved by the legislature.

Athlete stricken suddenly; paramedic program here can provide invaluable help and reassurance to all

The tragic death last night of J. V. Cain, St. Louis football Cardinals athlete, underscores the fact that even those in apparently excellent physical condition can be stricken unexpectedly and require expert on-the-scene care. In his case, he was revived by trainers and a doctor after collapsing during a team practice session, but died later.

All of which emphasizes the value of a paramedic program such as that about to be established in Granite City. Six emergency medical technicians have completed extensive paramedic training and two more are to begin the advanced study.

Plans call for one of the city's four ambulances to be equipped to meet state requirements and the needs of the paramedics dispatched to the home, store or other location where an individual has become ill or suffered injury. St. Elizabeth Medical Center, a state trauma center is to install radio and monitoring equipment to link physicians there with those at the scene.

The EMTs, employed by the Granite City Ambulance Service operated by the fire department, attended classes at Wood River Township Hospital two nights weekly for the past year while continuing to work their regular ambulance shifts.

After classroom training and passing a state examination, they spent weekly eight-hour shifts in the emergency room, operating room and intensive care unit. Next, they volunteered their time for 12 hours a day, twice a week, to provide 24-hour paramedic coverage and gain direct experience in the techniques and procedures.

What is the value of a life? It is priceless, and the question alone shows how important the paramedic program can be to this community.

J. V. Cain did not survive, but several lives already have been saved by local emergency technicians. And their capabilities will be even greater as paramedics.

Social Security figures show realities of inflation

Press-Record Bureaus — Two intriguing items in the news bring home the ravages of inflation.

The newly minted Susan B. Anthony "silver" dollar just put into circulation is not much larger than a quarter and is devoid of silver. It has about three cents worth of copper and nickel, and doesn't do justice to the first American woman to be honored on a coin of the realm.

This is a far cry from the time, not so many years ago, when visitors to Las Vegas could get all the real silver dollars their paper money would buy.

Americans needed no economists to advise them when their silver dollars became too valuable to circulate because paper money has been debased. In a classic example of Gresham's law, silver money disappeared because it was driven out by the cheaper currency.

As though to underline the Anthony dollar's weakness, the Social Security Administration gave out some startling figures the other day.

A 20-year-old worker starting out today will be entitled to receive $64,000 a year when he or she retires 45 years hence, in the year 2025. The Social Security people predict the average wage in that year will be $162,000, with Social Security taxes being levied on all earnings up to $378,000 a year.

By comparison, the maximum individual Social Security benefit now is $6,390 and the average is $5,082. The maximum payroll tax is $1,404 on earnings of $22,900.

The scary part is the certain knowledge that it will be as difficult to get by on Social Security benefits of $64,000 in the year 2025 as it is for pensioners to make ends meet now on only $5,000.

Summer blood drive successful

To the Editor:

The recent Red Cross blood drive sponsored by Church Women United was very successful. We not only reached our goal, we exceeded it at a time when the blood supply is very low.

A note of thanks is in order for those who helped in any way. Thanks to the Granite City Press-Record for keeping the community informed about the need for blood and of the dates and locations of the bloodmobile.

The Boy Scout troop from St. Margaret Mary Church and Madison Explorer Post 10-4 distributed posters, and numerous businesses in the Tri-City area displayed the posters.

I would like to name all those responsible for the success of the blood drive, but the list would be endless. Special thanks to those who shared their miracle by giving blood.

We hope we will have as much support and success for the December blood drive.

1979 VACATION TRAVEL STICKERS

Growth in services for Venice, Madison residents

To the Editor:

I refer to a letter that appeared in your newspaper on July 12, attempting to answer my letter of the previous week.

First of all, the writer insinuates that as a resident of Madison, I have no "business" concerning myself with Venice affairs. How sad!

According to her logic, the great Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had no business organizing protest marches in Selma, Ala., because he was a resident of Atlanta, Ga.

Nor did the young, idealistic civil rights workers of the North have any business in the South joining the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to work for black civil rights. And, surely, Violetta Luesso, the courageous white woman who gave her life in the struggle for black civil rights, would have stayed at home in Detroit, Mich.

Using her logic, the great civil rights struggle of the '60s, of which blacks are so proud, would never have taken place. And Gov. Orval Faubus, Police Chief "Bull" Connors and the Klu Klux Klan would still run the South and maybe the nation.

The writer obviously forgets that only a few months ago I was elected to the District 12 Board of Education, which includes a large portion of the City of Venice. I was elected to that board because of an overwhelming vote from the citizens of Venice.

That means that the intellectual, cultural and physical development of over half the children of Venice are not only my "interest," but my responsibility. And evidently the citizens of Venice wanted it that way.

But my concern for the welfare of the citizens of Venice was well-documented even before my election to the School Board. More recently, I stood up and voted for the new housing development in Venice, when other city officials in Madison and Venice were voting against it.

I protested in this very newspaper when the Madison School Board voted against it.

As a matter of fact, when many members of her own Venice City Council voted against the new housing development, I was one of those who helped to organize picket lines at City Hall that resulted in the entire council voting for the new development.

On any given night, you will find many Venice youngsters there, since during the fall, spring and winter, they have no place else to go.

You also will find many Venice children taking a dip in our pool during the summer months, since we have the only pool in the Madison-Venice area. The kids are watched over, incidentally, by a guard who lives in Venice.

There's a lot more to be said, but we don't want to sound, as though we are bragging or trying to put anyone down.

What we are trying to show is that we don't draw lines in West Madison. We don't try to keep ourselves in, or keep others out. The world is too small for that.

We are all affected by the actions of each other, whether it be in Iran, Soviet Russia, Mississippi, or next door.

Where there is injustice, it must be dealt with, because, as the poet said, "Ask not for whom the bell tolls, my friend. It tolls for thee!"

What more can I say, Mr. Editor, except to thank you for use of this valuable space in your great newspaper.

You have once again provided a valuable podium for debate. Long live the Press and the Press-Record!

Haine says MRF too hazardous

To the Editor:

I have sent the following letter (July 19) to Dr. Kenneth Shaw, president of Southern Illinois University:

As a member of the Madison County Board (Dist. 8 — Alton), I hereby signed managers of the Mississippi River Festival.

I would strongly urge that you take all steps possible to review this contract to see if the said corporation has—

1. Knowingly allowed certain concerts of the MRF to become, at the very least, a public nuisance and an actual threat to the health, welfare, safety and morals of the people of Madison County, concert attendees and passersby including people on the highways of Madison County;

2. Caused dangers to the health, welfare and safety of the people of Madison County by allowing ignoring the open sale of narcotics on the concert grounds, which are, of course, grounds owned by the people of the State of Illinois since SIUE is a state institution.

Drug activities have degenerated to the point where certain concerts of the MRF are Iranian bazaars of drug sales.

Furthermore, the corporate managers of the MRF have allowed the consumption of alcoholic beverages frequently to excess by certain concertgoers so as to endanger other concertgoers as a result of said intoxication. We have had stabbings, assaults, fights and public disturbances — endangering innocent, law-abiding concertgoers and have created a situation where certain intoxicated individuals are leaving the concert by automobile, thus endangering the citizens on the public highways.

3. There have been many and numerous immoral activities openly allowed to be done on the grounds so as to encourage immorality, disorder and lawlessness to such a degree that the physical safety of other concertgoers is threatened and the well being of the parents of many of our young people is threatened because of the worry for their children and relatives who attend these rock concerts.

Dr. Shaw, I write this letter with a sincere belief that you are a man of integrity and courage to act on this matter.

The people of Madison County do not believe and I do not believe that the MRF should be cancelled. This is a worthwhile enterprise and brings joy and entertainment to many, including myself.

However, the corporation is booking certain hard rock groups whose patrons seem to be of a different type and attitude than those of certain other concerts — the full artists such as "Henry Mancini, Bob Hope and the other excellent entertainment that the MRF has had in the past.

Whatever motivates the patrons of these rock concerts to commit the acts of aggression and violence that occur on the grounds of SIUE is beyond me to speculate. I do believe, however, that there is only a minimum number of patrons who do so, but it is a significant number that will become a group whose actions cannot be tolerated in a civil community.

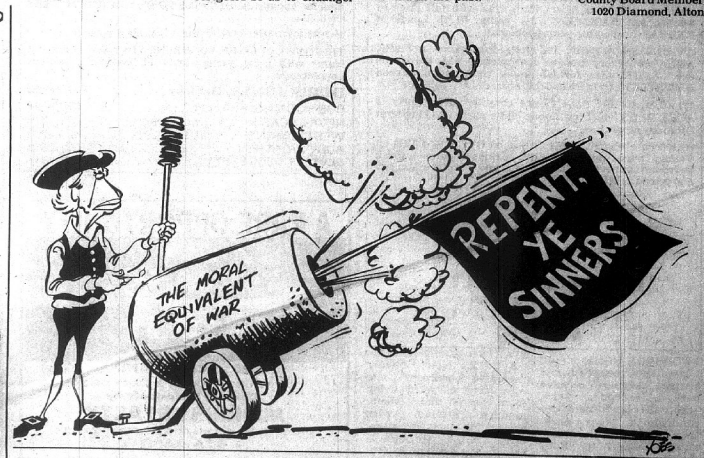

Let me add that it is not only the health, safety, welfare and morals of Madison County that concern me, but the good names of SIUE and your own reputation as an educator of distinction and honor.

I am sending copies of this communication to the sheriff of Madison County, whose position in this matter I wholeheartedly support and praise, and also to the state's attorney of Madison County in the hope that he would be apprised of my position in this matter as a member of the County Board. They may want to take additional action.

I am confident that your legal counsel can effect the legal counsel of the corporation in order to cancel the changes that we are all hoping for in this MRF.

I will await your reply before I introduce a formal resolution in the County Board requesting legal action by the state's attorney or an opinion as to whether such action will be taken in order to remedy the situation.

make the mess less.
There have to be good reasons why more In-Sink-Erator disposers are sold and installed than any other make.
Our grinding ring, for example, is the strongest made. It's the core of our disposers made from our own ISE-made electric motors.
Then we add the extra things. A tough polycarbonate shield protects against interior corrosion. Automatic reversing action extends the life of the grinding elements.
So ask for In-Sink-Erator next time. To make your mess less... we make our disposers do more.

IN LOVING memory of DONALD L. BROVLES,
July 23, 1978. In our hearts your memory lingers always tender, fond and true. There's not a day dear Chubby, that we do not think of you. Sadly missed by wife, mother, family and friends — Gone but not forgotten for the many helpful and thoughtful deeds done while with us. Thank God for Joe, who enriched our days with his presence. 33 7 23

Hearing Thursday on I-270 extension

An informal and informational seminar on plans for a new Interstate 270 link from the existing I-270 to Interstate 55-70 along the eastern edge of the Quad-City area will be held Thursday afternoon and evening in the Madison Room of the University Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Representatives of the Illinois Department of Transportation will review plans, the draft environmental impact statement and alternate alignments for the proposed six-lane interstate highway during the sessions.

Interested persons may attend anytime from 1:30 p.m. Thursday to 5 p.m. and from 6:30 p.m. A short presentation will be given at 7:30 p.m. on the status of planning for the project.

Cost estimates range from $63.4 million to $67.3 million, depending on the alignments selected.

The interstate highway would be 3.3 miles long if the eastern alignment were selected and 5.5 miles long if the western alternative is selected.

A copy of the draft environmental impact statement is available for public review at the University Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Granite City Township will accept bids at the Clerk's office in the city hall until August 8, 1979 at 3:00 p.m. for remodeling the Assessor's office at city hall. Specifications available from City Clerk ROBERT W. STEVENS, Town Clerk.

Public Notice
Pursuant to the Public Meeting Act of the State of Illinois, you are hereby notified that a Special Meeting of the Board of Trustees of Community College District No. 522, St. Clair, Washington, Monroe, Madison, Bond, Montgomery, Perry and Randolph Counties, State of Illinois, is scheduled to be held on Tuesday, July 24, 1979, at 8:00 p.m., in the Garden Room, Main Campus, 2590 Carlyle Road, Belleville, Illinois. This meeting will be held for the consideration of personnel items, and consideration of lease agreements for classroom facilities for the 1979-80 academic year.

Effect of this rule can affect all of us

By GARRY N. MURPHY
SUIE Department of English
AFFECT-EFFECT. Just why people cannot learn the difference between "affect" and "effect" is something of a mystery.

English teachers have been trying to make the distinction clear for at least a century—but without much, uh...effect.

The source of the confusion is easily located. In speech, the two words sound alike, the "a" and the "e" both being pronounced "uh." So, spelling by ear is disastrous. The spelling must be determined by the function of the word in the sentence.

If the word is a verb, the spelling usually is "affect." If it is a noun, the spelling is "effect." Nothing could sound simpler, so far.

If the adverb "really" can be inserted before the word, the word is the verb form: "This law (really) affects all of us." "How we will (really) be affected is not yet certain."

If the adjective "real" can be inserted, the word is the noun form: "The law will have (real) effects on the economy." "The (real) effects will soon cause others."

There are, however, some exceptions to the rule. "Effect" can also be a verb. "This law will effect (bring into effect) widespread changes."

And "affect" is occasionally used as a noun by psychologists and aestheticians when they write about matters involving the "affectations."

But these exceptions are rare. For most of us ordinary citizens, the A-for-verb-E-for-noun rule will work well ninety-nine percent of the time.

Questions may be sent to Garry Murphy, Department of English, Box 43, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Illinois 62026.

Photographer appointed to state post

RALPH GRAVEMANN

Ralph E. Gravemann, who operates Gravemann Photography in East Alton, has been appointed to the executive committee of the newly formed Certified Professional Photographers of Illinois.

Gravemann started his photography career while in the U.S. Army in 1953. He was stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash.

In 1954, after he returned from the military, he began employment as an industrial photographer for the Olin Chemical Corporation in East Alton.

He established his first photography studio in 1955 at 911 Milton Road in Alton. The studio remained at that location until 1971, at which time there was a damaging fire.

In 1972, land was purchased and a completely new building, The Gravemann Building, was designed and built for professional photography. The building also leases office space. Gravemann received the master of photography degree in New Orleans in 1969. The craftsman degree was presented to him in Washington, D.C., in 1976. The awards were given by the Professional Photographers of America.

When the certification program was started in Illinois, it was designed to help protect Illinois photographic consumers.

Certification is a service provided by the Professional Photographers of America in cooperation with its affiliated state organization.

Bill Hardin, state president, says, "Our purpose in this program is two fold. Our first priority is to upgrade the professional skills and standards of competence, as well as encourage understanding of the ethics and business of photography on the part of the photographer."

Secondly, the certification program identifies talented photographers whose skills can be effectively utilized by the public."

David Beatty, state certification chairman, notes that not just any photographer can become certified.

Certification status is granted to those photographer who successfully complete a rigorous series of tests designed to measure the applicant's understanding of both the technical and business aspects of photography.

In addition, a certified photographer must be a professional active member in the PP of A and his state organization, and have a minimum of two years of full-time, active involvement in a successful photographic business.

Also, certified professional photographers are bound to a strict code of professional conduct established by the PP of A.

When renewing certification status (between the third and fourth year), a photographer must provide evidence of a continuing education program and participate in a periodic critical review to establish the consistent quality of his work.

The PP of A is the oldest and largest association of professional photographers in the world, with headquarters in Des Plaines, Ill.

The organization, founded in 1880, provides educational services and establishes standards of professional performance for its more than 17,000 members and 165 local, state, regional and international affiliates.

CHASE INTRUDER

Craig Foster, 2320 State St., was reading in bed Thursday when he heard someone removing the screen from an open window near him. A young man looked in the window, saw Foster and ran. Foster started to chase him, but returned to the house because he was not fully clothed.

CPA review course

The accounting faculty at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a CPA (certified public accountant) review course to help candidates prepare for the November 1979 CPA examination.

The complete class will include a review of all four areas of the examination—theory, practice, auditing and law—but does not carry degree credit. Students may enroll for all sessions or for selected parts of the course as necessary.

Enrollment options and fees are: the entire course, 22 sessions including two practice examinations, $350; theory and practice, 14.5 sessions, $275; law, four sessions, $90; auditing, 3.5 sessions, $80; and law and auditing, 7.5 sessions, $155; theory and practice, law, 15.5 sessions, $310; or theory and practice, auditing, 18 sessions, $305.

The cost of textbooks and reference material is not included. Classes will meet in half-day sessions on Saturdays, from Aug. 4 until a week before the November examination. Sessions are 8:30-12 noon or 1-4:30 p.m. in Classroom Building 11, Room 2409.

Registration is limited and will be accepted on a first-come basis until July 31. Additional information is available by contacting James F. Miller Jr., director of the Center for Management Studies, School of Business, Box 51, SIUE (telephone 692-2688).
